Victoria's Welcoming City Action Plan

The work of the Welcoming City Task Force, the City of Victoria, consultants, and community partners along with public input has led to the co-creation of the following actions to help make Victoria a more welcoming city. The Welcoming City Action Plan accompanies the Welcoming City Strategy and contains a series of recommended actions and targeted timelines for completion. It also provides a framework for accountability to measure progress using the Welcoming Standard as a guide while remaining unique to Victoria.

The City of Victoria is well positioned to continue to lead in the shared vision of Victoria as a city where newcomers are warmly welcomed and well supported. Increasing cultural literacy, combined with a commitment to a shared responsibility for inclusion amongst community partners, will lead to all residents benefiting from a deepened understanding and welcoming of diversity.

Framework for Accountability

The framework for accountability measures progress to determine how the recommended actions make life better for newcomers and long-term residents. Monitoring progress can be achieved through annual targeted surveys that track key population and program-based metrics year over year based on the welcoming outcomes defined in this plan.

Identifying whether anyone is better off as a result of this work, is the most challenging part of the Action Plan. In all cases, measurements will indicate how particular policies, programs, and processes as well as changes in practices, make a difference to the lives of newcomers. Results will determine if adjustments are necessary to achieve defined goals. It is expected that the City will seek to engage in partnerships with organizations that have already established, programs, events and initiatives which are aligned with the recommendations of the Welcoming City Action Plan. It is important to note that the community driven outcomes themselves are goals to achieve a more welcoming city and may need to be further refined as baselines are established and each recommended action is defined, developed, and delivered.

This approach will allow the City to meet the objectives of the Welcoming City Strategy, support community partner organizations that already do this work, and ensure that the target audience of newcomers and immigrants are benefiting from these actions.
