

Do the Native Plant Walk

Date: Tuesday, April 14, 2009

For Immediate Release

VICTORIA, BC — What's the buzz about native plants and shrubs? They're gaining in popularity for being easy to maintain, disease and drought tolerant, and for attracting beneficial insects.

Learn how to garden with native plants and shrubs at the Native Plant Walk, a free, outdoor workshop offered by the City of Victoria on Saturday, April 18th from 10 a.m. – Noon in Beacon Hill Park. Participants are to meet at the Service Building near the public washrooms.

To register for the Native Plant Walk, call 250.361.0732. The workshop will be held rain or shine.

For more information on upcoming gardening workshops and Victoria's Pesticide Reduction Bylaw, visit www.victoria.ca and click on What's New?

— 30 —

Please consider this announcement for your community calendar or events listings.

For More Information:

Fred Hook
Environmental Technician
Parks, Recreation and Community Development Department
250.361.0623