

Discover Victoria's Parks

Date: Tuesday, September 22, 2009

For Immediate Release

VICTORIA, BC — Do you pass by Stadacona Park and wonder what's on the other side of the hedge? Do you know how many species of trees live in Ross Bay Cemetery or what animal likes to hide in the cone of a Douglas Fir? And are there really sheep on top of Summit Park?

Take a free, interpretive walking tour of some of the City's finest parks and learn what makes each unique. Tours are held on Wednesdays from 10:30 a.m. to noon until October 14, rain or shine, so make sure to dress for the weather. The tours are stroller-friendly and are suitable for all fitness levels. Registration is not required.

Wednesday, September 23, 2009 Look High, Look Low at Stadacona Park
1490 Pandora Avenue
Meet at the tennis courts

Wednesday, September 30, 2009 Tree Tales of Ross Bay Cemetery
1495 Fairfield Road
Meet at the maintenance building

Wednesday, October 7, 2009 Stone Sheep of Summit Park
3025 Blackwood Street
Meet at playground

Wednesday, October 14, 2009 Natural History of Beacon Hill Park
Meet at the Beacon Hill Park Petting Zoo parking lot off Circle Drive

For more information, visit: www.victoria.ca and click on What's New?

— 30 —

Please consider this announcement for your community calendar or events listings.

For More Information:

Todd Stewardson
Manager of Parks, Construction and Natural Systems
Parks, Recreation and Community Development Department
250.361.0630