Where We Are

The City of Victoria recognizes the Songhees and Esquimalt Nations in whose traditional territories we live and work ‘Hay swx qa’.

The City of Victoria has declared 2017 to be a first year of Reconciliation.

Create Victoria will make every effort to take direction from the United Nations Declaration on the Rights of Indigenous Peoples, and it will be guided by recommendations contained in the Truth and Reconciliation Findings and Calls to Action, as well as the findings within the National Narrative on Reconciliation Report from Reconciliation Canada.

Throughout the Create Victoria planning process, the Calls to Action informed our approach, planning perspectives and outcomes.

Create Victoria recognizes a shift in Victoria's evolving community cultural identity—one that is both “pump and poise”. A creative ecosystems approach was employed to reach out beyond the arts community to tourism and private sectors, and bridged culture, technology and entrepreneurship to capture a wider community conversation. Create Victoria harnesses the energy from these vital conversations around the evolution of an authentic identity to elevate the City as a destination for creativity, innovation and excellence in the arts.

Victoria values artists, cultural practitioners, arts organizations, creative producers, and recognizes their role as central to innovation. Create Victoria includes a cultural policy that firmly values the role of artists and creativity in our society and is reflected in the Values and Guiding Principles of this plan.

A key influence in innovation over the past few years appears to be the growing culinary, design and emerging art scene, along with the growing technology sector. A creative ecosystems approach is integrated at a strategic level throughout departments. While this is key to effective cultural development, it is essential to be able to respond to the day-to-day needs of the community and in particular, facilitate the ‘brokering’ of cultural space use.

The Arts, Culture, and Events Office is proposed to be repositioned as a Cultural Hub to ‘roll out the red carpet’, instead of red tape, and to construct its collaborative community partnerships. A number of related key objectives and actions are outlined in Strategic Priority 1 and 2 to support this direction.

Indigenous voices and stories are reflected in planning and the Calls to Action of Truth and Reconciliation are upheld in cultural development. Reflecting Indigenous heritage in everyday encounters in the public realm, through artistic interventions, presence and traditional storytelling, is essential to valuing and honouring both the tangible and intangible cultural heritage of the Peoples of the Songhees and Esquimalt Nations.

Strategic Priority 3, Telling Our Story, outlines objectives and actions to preserve and conserve inclusive heritage legacies.

Create Victoria details the next steps–a major focus area of Victoria–to inspire all to support our growing creative scene.

Create Victoria promotes the diversity multiculturalism. It celebrates diversity knowing this energizes a vibrant cultural scene and reflects a shared authentic identity” (excerpt from the Cultural Policy Statement).

Introduction

Victoria radiates creativity. It is home to an incredible mix of artists, designers, performers, entrepreneurs and innovators who contribute to a vibrant arts and culture scene.

Through wide-spread consultation, the City of Victoria has developed Create Victoria, a five-year Arts and Culture Master Plan designed to nurture conditions for creativity to flourish. The plan, supported by a Cultural Policy, aligns ideas, people, and resources around a shared vision and a set of strategies, goals, objectives and actions to realize Victoria’s full potential.

Culture and creativity are essential aspects for vibrant and sustainable cities. The role of culture in creating healthy, dynamic communities is widely acknowledged and cultural activities such as festivals and public art are vital tools to engage a community and articulate their values.

The City of Victoria recognizes the central role that arts and culture play to create community well-being, social sustainability and quality of life. The culture of creativity that the City has crafted through policies and programs contributes to the quality of life by “building community spirit, social cohesion and tolerance” and contributes to the overall sense of place and regional identity (Official Community Plan).

The City of Victoria has a key role in cultural planning, policy development, programs and incentives, and grants. It has full and part ownership of certain cultural facilities, including the Royal and McPherson theatres, and also manages public spaces for arts and cultural activation and events. The City functions as the regional centre for arts and culture and many cultural facilities and spaces are located downtown.

In its cultural services delivery – currently managed and carried out by a small team the Arts, Culture and Events department – the City acts as a key connector to building a ‘creative city’.

The aim of creative city-making is to think of your City as a living work of art, where citizens can involve and engage themselves in the creation of a transformed place.

Creative and the City: Thinking Through the Steps Defining Arts and Culture: What’s included?
(See Glossary of Terms in Appendix A)

The City of Victoria’s Official Community Plan (OCP) defines culture as practices and values, heritage and place, the arts, diversity and social history.

Within the broader context of culture, “the arts” include visual media (painting, print-making, drawing, sculpture, crafts, pottery and ceramics, photography, film and video), performing arts (theatre, music, song, dance, and literary arts such as spoken word).

“Cultural industry” is an umbrella term for areas of creative work and cultural production, such as: advertising, architecture and interior design, art and antique markets, artisan crafts, fashion design, industrial design, film and video, performing arts, new media, print media and publishing, radio and television and visual media.

Cultural resources and assets include libraries, museums, galleries, natural and cultural heritage sites and activities, and intangible heritage.
The City has great bones, and is full of amazing people. What do we want to do with it?

What do we mean by Creative Economy?

Few sectors of the economy have the potential to transform communities like the creative industries. Not only can they reshape a city’s image, but creative industries are well positioned to become magnets for outside talent, and to boost the vibrancy and quality of life from which to provide an economic advantage over competing communities.

Creative industries fuel a ‘creative economy’ – namely, one driven by ideas, innovation, knowledge, diversity, collaboration and creativity. This economy encompasses the creative industries in which ideas and intellectual property produce value and generate wealth. It represents an aggregation of a complex collection of industrial and creative and cultural service sectors including design, media, advertising, film, music, performing arts, publishing and interactive software development.

Understanding Cultural Clusters and Hubs

Cultural clusters and hubs (or districts) are a geographically-defined area or space where there is a concentration of cultural activity which can include cultural institutions, arts and cultural venues, live-work spaces for artists, cultural businesses and creative industries. These hubs provide opportunities for public participation, the incubation of ideas, networking and cultural production. Cultural clusters and hubs can help regenerate neighbourhoods or downtown cores to attract new residents and services. The organic and grassroots evolution of naturally occurring clusters are more successful in the long-run which can also be supported by the City through zoning and land-use planning.
Our Process

We asked: What does a creative city look like?

Soft-launched at public events in Fall 2016, and public engagement activities taking place between January and April 2017, Create Victoria is the culmination of collecting the input of close to 2,000 individuals including interdepartmental City staff as well as survey data (over 400 submissions).

The project team began by taking a deeper look at the planning context – What trends are impacting arts and culture? What current practices in cultural planning will best suit our process? What are the jurisdictional and other key considerations that will affect the plan? An analysis of the major City of Victoria planning initiatives and policies was also conducted to identify links to cultural planning and opportunities for further alignment with current practices in culture, Indigenous context and heritage policy-making.

The Planning Context Report and Matrix Review can be found at victoria.ca/create and the recent survey including interdepartmental City staff as well as survey data (over 400 submissions).

The project team reported at regular intervals to the Arts and Culture Master Plan Advisory Group consisting of members from the arts, culture and heritage community who provided thoughtful input and feedback. Ensuring the delivery of a community-informed cultural policy and plan were key objectives of the Create Victoria engagement process which included three phases.

Create Victoria Purpose and Scope

The Create Victoria Cultural Policy within Arts and Culture Master Plan jointly demonstrates the values and principles the City of Victoria places on arts and culture for both social and economic benefit. Together, they serve as a guide to the allocation of resources, decision-making, role definition and actions of the City with respect to cultural development over the next five years.

The Create Victoria Arts and Culture Master Plan represents a ‘big picture’ overview of the Strategic Priorities, Goals and Actions for the broader Victoria community. It encompasses a wider range of cultural assets and resources than solely the arts and arts organizations, making it much more comprehensive. Recommendations are framed as Objectives and Actions to guide the detailed tactical implementations that provide a roadmap for the next five years of the City’s cultural investment. In some cases, objectives and actions are specific whereas others will require further research and planning input from the community. Create Victoria acts as a living document, and is supported by the annually updated implementation schedule and budget which outlines: Recommended Actions, Lead vs Partner Roles and Responsibilities; Timeline; Outcomes and Benefits; and First Steps.

The city activates some of the goals, strategies and tactics articulated in this master plan through existing partnerships, including the Capital Regional District’s Arts Development Service.

Careful consideration has been given to related City plans and documents, both internal and external, which inform and complement Create Victoria.

Bold Moves

What is a Bold Move?
It is a strategic direction, objective or action that marks a significant step forward in cultural development. Sometimes it can be looking at new ways to solve challenges and issues in a community, or perhaps advancing the conversation, or demonstrating leadership and asking others to come on-board.

1. Invest in and advance real solutions for Cultural Spaces
There is a continuum of need regarding cultural spaces and Create Victoria attempts to capture a balance in serving these needs, by outlining a range of steps to address this broad issue including:

- A Cultural Infrastructure Fund beginning with an investment by the City to leverage and attract private and public donations, with an emphasis on legacy giving, to encourage cultural leadership and philanthropy.
- Improving existing outdoor performance infrastructure including the Cameron Bandshell and Centennial Square, and opening up Beacon Hill Park to a broader range of festival and events use.
- Creating tools to incentivize private developers to contribute to cultural spaces through mechanisms such as amenity bonus contributions, or tax incentives or subsidies, or allocating proceeds from film tax revenues towards cultural development, as examples.

2. Cultural Leadership: Champions Step Up and Join!
The City wants to work towards rolling out the red carpet to enable artist and creative-led opportunities. This requires a significant amount of time and investment, especially in building the capacity of the community. Bold moves include:

- Repositioning the Arts, Culture and Events office as a Cultural Hub – a one-stop shop and go-to resource for the community.
- Increase awareness and understanding of the need for private sector and philanthropic support in the creative community is another.
- Initiating a Create Victoria Leadership Group to harness the energy of the Create Victoria engagement events and by continuing to use a creative-ecosystems-based approach to ensure cross-pollination amongst sectors.

3. We’re not only tea, orcas and gardens (and those are great too!)
Victoria is a creative city with an evolving identity and brand narrative, one that is both ‘punk and polite’. Create Victoria seeks to build off its well-known recognition to position itself as an exciting and vibrant cultural destination. Allowing for this shift to unfold in an authentic way, aligning with Tourism planning initiatives and welcoming a new generation of creative voices are equal keys of Telling our Story (Strategic Priority 3).

4. Capitalizing on the Creative Economy
We are in a new arts era that sees a move away from traditional funding models towards a broader mix of revenue streams. Individual creators and creative entreprenuerships are poised to expand Victoria’s creative economy. By addressing exports, creative worker attraction and retention and seizing opportunities to work with the local technology sector and capitalize on digital strategies, Victoria can make Bold Moves in becoming a truly recognized home to artists, designers, performers and innovators.
A focus on People and Spaces with the identified goal and objectives will drive the Create Victoria Arts and Culture Plan and ensure values and principles are upheld. By starting here, with a deeper understanding of space needs – how people participate in spaces or wish to, along with inclusion and diversity – an authentic and representative community cultural identity will further emerge along with improved cultural infrastructure use.

There is a continuum of need for affordable creative spaces, from live/work studio space and micro-venues, to temporary public art and creative place-making opportunities, to the development of a larger cultural facility such as a cultural hub or purpose-built arts and cultural centre.

OBJECTIVE 1.1: Where possible, ensure a distributed model of creative place-making experiences through neighbourhood planning.

ACTIONS
1. Through collaboration and consultation, use neighbourhood parks, open spaces, community centres and schools, as well as identified intangible cultural assets to act as central creative nodes or cultural junctions in neighbourhoods.
2. Identify opportunities for inclusive, collaborative community arts and creative-place-making participation activities facilitated by artists and other creative practitioners.
3. In keeping with the Parks and Open Spaces Master Plan, create opportunities for Artist in Residence programs at the neighbourhood level and in the parks system.
4. In collaboration with neighbourhood groups or other collectives, facilitate the introduction of creative tool libraries into neighbourhoods or at a designated centralised location.
5. Liaise with School District representatives where possible, to identify opportunities for enhancing arts education and link to audience development Objective 3.3.

1. Strategic Priority

Connecting People and Spaces

GOAL:
Everyone feels welcome and able to access affordable spaces for creative participation, production and enjoyment.

OBJECTIVE 1.2: Determine the short, medium, and long-term phasing of the development of a multi-use arts and cultural centre, and arts district.

ACTIONS
1. Create a Cultural Spaces Roadmap to serve as a guide for phased investment and planning by:
   a. Further examining current real estate conditions for arts and culture utilizing Create Victoria engagement inputs and data;
   b. Identify and collate the mapping and listing of all City-owned spaces, City-leased spaces, and upcoming or new potential spaces (either re-purposed such as industrial zones, and/or re-zoned spaces, as well as purpose-built venues);
   c. Seize opportunities to work in partnership with other levels of government towards completing needs assessment and feasibility studies, and seek sources of funding for a purpose-built multi-use cultural venue (e.g. Central Library);
   d. Create a Cultural Infrastructure Fund for both existing and new spaces beginning with a $100,000 investment by the City to leverage and attract private and public donations, with an emphasis on legacy giving, to encourage cultural leadership and philanthropy.
   e. Introduce an arts incubator or hub as part of the cultural spaces planning.
   f. Optimize City funding allocation towards existing cultural facilities:
      a. A digitally-based ‘match-making’ function to link vacant spaces (e.g. empty storefronts or micro-venue) to organized cultural organisations.
      b. Further examining current real estate conditions for arts and culture utilizing Create Victoria engagement inputs and data;
      c. Support cultural venues in seeking funding from partners and other levels of government.

OBJECTIVE 1.3: Serve a range of ongoing creative space needs for artistic and creative production, display, enjoyment and participation.

ACTIONS
1. Expand Art victoria.ca to allow users to identify unused, under-used or available multi-use cultural spaces as part of on-going cultural mapping.
2. Integrate within artvictoria.ca a digitally-based ‘match-making’ function to link vacant spaces (e.g. empty storefronts or micro-venues) with artists and creative practitioners. Link with Spacefinder BC as well.
3. Create a service role and function within the Arts, Culture and Events team similar to Artscape to oversee cultural space development, project identification, and to act as an intermediary/broker between other City Hall departments, the private sector and partners.
4. Update the Art in Public Places Policy and expand and modify public art program to:
   a. Include an enhanced creative-placemaking focus (e.g. cultural district/chains, mixed use developments, urban design/Public Realm);
   b. Improve public art maintenance and guidelines;
   c. Encourage temporary public art interventions and pop-up opportunities;
   d. Connecting artists with wall/mural spaces on private buildings and provide exhibition opportunities.
   e. Create and manage a civic interior art collection;
   f. Develop a memorial and commemorations policy and guidelines;
   g. Facilitate and manage community engagement pieces.
   h. Create a service role and function within the Arts, Culture and Events team similar to Artscape to oversee cultural space development, project identification, and to act as an intermediary/broker between other City Hall departments, the private sector and partners.
   i. Overseeing the development of the Cultural Spaces Roadmap (see 1.2).
   j. Approaching in collaboration with identified stakeholders, the opportunity for commercial property holders to offer cultural spaces in the evening for rehearsals and small-scale performances, where possible.

The Cultural spaces role and functions will be responsible for:

- identifying and protecting existing space for artistic and creative production, especially rehearsal space, micro-venue performance and studio spaces.
- considering and exploring a mechanism for allowing house concerts and small spaces to operate without needing to change zoning or able to purchase low cost licences for events on monthly basis.
- linking with the Royal McPherson Theatre Society towards achieving the City’s goal for accessible performance space in the evening for artistic and creative production, especially rehearsal space, micro-venue performance and studio spaces.
- exploring and protecting existing space for artistic and creative production, especially rehearsal space, micro-venue performance and studio spaces.
- exploring and protecting existing space for artistic and creative production, especially rehearsal space, micro-venue performance and studio spaces.
- exploring and protecting existing space for artistic and creative production, especially rehearsal space, micro-venue performance and studio spaces.
- exploring and protecting existing space for artistic and creative production, especially rehearsal space, micro-venue performance and studio spaces.
Strategic Priority
Connecting People and Spaces

GOAL:
Everyone feels welcome and able to access affordable spaces for creative participation, production and enjoyment.

5. Continue to engage with the creative and cultural community in ongoing dialogue and participation in space needs.

6. Create a suite of tools and actions within the regulatory environment to ‘reduce red tape’, and to address and accommodate space needs through zoning and bylaw review and amendments, and other regulatory mechanisms including but not limited to:
   • Tax incentives or subsidies for creative spaces;
   • Developer incentives such as amenity bonus contributions for creating new creative/cultural spaces, including live/work studio spaces;
   • Opportunities to include creative spaces within existing City infrastructure projects (e.g. Crystal Pool, Library spaces, affordable housing, etc.);
   • Easing permitting functions for special events and festivals; and
   • Creating a micro-loan grant program for cultural entrepreneurs and small-budget items including, but not limited to: transportation, equipment and venue rental.

OBJECTIVE 1.4:
Facilitate social inclusion, promote diversity, community wellness and accessibility in cultural spaces.

ACTIONS
1. Identify as part of the Cultural Spaces Roadmap, existing venues and spaces that require modifications to meet accessibility standards and are in keeping with emerging trends in accessibility arts.

2. Work with the arts and culture community in creating awareness of tools and resources to ensure accessibility standards and encourage diversity in arts engagement.

3. In partnership with relevant organizations, create an accessibility checklist to minimize barriers to audiences.

4. Where possible, work with the technology community in identifying tech-based solutions to help increase access to the arts.

5. Prioritize opportunities for Family Arts in Festivals and Events programming, and where possible, work with venues to mitigate barriers for Family Arts experiences.

6. Use art as a tool for community wellness and for opening up opportunities for marginalized communities through inclusivity initiatives (such as access to tickets) with identified partners.

7. Align with affordability initiatives by identifying artists and creators as potential applicants for affordability housing, where applicable.
The City recognizes that it does not create culture. Rather, the City works to enable cultural development and creative city building created by the community.

Individual artists and creative entrepreneurs express cultural vitality and drive cultural development at a grassroots level. Non-profit organizations in the cultural and creative sectors, private individuals, and the broader community play equally important roles in furthering the creative city building created by the City to enable cultural development and create culture. Rather, the City works to support and guide creative initiatives.

GOAL:
The City facilitates cultural leadership by collaborating with partners, and supporting and guiding creative initiatives.

OBJECTIVE 2.1:
The Arts, Culture and Events (ACE) Office is the “One-Stop Shop” and the first point of contact at City Hall for creative and cultural development requests and assistance. It acts as a “Go-To” resource for the community.

Actions
1. Similar to the Business Hub at City Hall, the Arts, Culture and Events Office will be re-named and serve as the City’s Arts Hub to:
   a. Facilitate Arts, Culture and Events related requests;
   b. Navigate City Hall and liaise with other departments (e.g. permitting, licensing, zoning/planning);
   c. Provide letters of support for outside funding;
   d. Share knowledge, expertise, and information;
   e. Identify funding opportunities; and
   f. List equipment loans.

2. Develop a communications strategy to assist artists and organizations in accessing and understanding ACE services, to be supported by:
   a. An easy-to-access website outlining ACE role and scope of services, resources, and processes.
   b. Create simplified ACE processes and streamlined approaches for One-Stop shop answers.
   c. Promote ways of giving, the impact of resident cultural organizations, and explore matched giving opportunities.

3. Implement cultural knowledge, technology, and entrepreneurship.
   a. Introduce a micro-funding/subsidy programs to individual and non-profit creative entrepreneurs, those who at a grassroots level act as drivers in creative city building.
   b. Promote ways of giving, the impact of resident cultural organizations, and explore matched giving opportunities.

OBJECTIVE 2.2:
Continue to lead a creative ecosystems approach to encourage cross pollination among creative sectors (e.g. culture, technology, and entrepreneurship).

Actions
1. In partnership with technology leaders, introduce a 'project pitch' – a centralized local online crowdfunding space where artists and creative entrepreneurs or organizations could post their projects and identified resource needs, and be matched with private donors or funders.

2. Continue to lead a creative ecosystems approach to encourage cross pollination among creative sectors (e.g. culture, technology, and entrepreneurship) – link with Innovation and Entrepreneurship – Future-Ready priorities.

3. Hold Cultural Forums in partnership with an arts service organizations such as Arts BC to provide knowledge-sharing and training to individual artists, creative entrepreneurs/businesses and arts organizations.

4. Hold Cultural Cafés to bridge conversations between private, individual and non-profit creative practitioners and entities.

OBJECTIVE 2.3:
Help build an increased awareness and understanding for the need of private sector and individual philanthropic support in the arts community.

Actions
1. Link with Innovation and Entrepreneurship – Future-Ready priorities.

2. Create a Victoria Leadership Group (comprising of leads from Cultural Cafés) to serve as ambassadors and checkpoints for cultural development initiatives.

3. Introduce a micro-funding/subsidy program to individual artists and creative entrepreneurs, those who at a grassroots level act as drivers in creative city building.

4. Promote ways of giving, the impact of resident cultural organizations, and explore matched giving opportunities.
Victoria is home to talented creative people and a history of artistic excellence. Championing and promoting this work in the region and beyond is key to advancing a vibrant music, festivals and events scene, and creative worker attraction and retention. At the same time, it is essential to continue to lead and respond to cultural participation trends.

OBJECTIVE 3.1: Ensuring that Indigenous voices and stories are reflected in planning.

ACTIONS
