

Contemporary Music – Dana Sipos

Welcome to Contemporary Music. This beautiful song called 'Skinny Legs' is written and performed by Vancouver Island-based musician Dana Sipos from her 2021 album The Astral Plane. Enjoy!

Oh so skinny legs and all
Dangle over the edge
Tell me do you fear the fall
Or are you done mama done mama done

Do you glimpse the world to come
Do you like what you see
Do you wait with bated breath
Or are you free baby free baby free finally free

Oh the writing's in the sky
This moon is in her final phase
You're the heart and you're the break
You're the echo and the grace

Oh and when you brush my hair
Oh and when you braid the strands
I glimpse of the mirrors of your hands
And all the memories stored there mama there mama there

Oh the writing's in the sky
This moon is in her final phase
You're the heart and you're the break
You're the echo and the grace

Oh and just before you go
Sit with me a little awhile
I listen for the silence
And the sound the morning sings mama sings mama sings
Oh the sound the morning sings
Oh the sound the morning sings
We'll listen for the silence
Sit with me before you go mama go mama go