

Summer Camp Philosophy

The City of Victoria is committed to providing safe, inclusive, and meaningful recreation opportunities for everyone. We believe that an individual's physical or mental ability, gender identity or expression, sexual orientation, ethnic, racial, or cultural identity should not be a barrier to participating in our programs. Our summer camp programs aim to create a welcoming and respectful environment for all.

Inclusion and Accessibility

We want your child to have the best possible experience at camp and receive the support they need to thrive. If your child receives educational assistance at school or qualifies for funding through Aboriginal Supported Child Development or Supported Child Development programs, they may benefit from one-on-one support in camps. Learn more at victoria.ca/recreation.

What parents said last summer:

“We love City of Victoria camps. Hands down the best staff and my kids always have a great time.”

“Some of the best summer camps my son has ever participated in! Thank you very much for all the excellent planning and wonderful staff!”

“The staff were kind and engaging and they had a blast all summer. This was our first time doing these camps, and we'll be back next year!”

“Thank you for an inclusive and welcoming environment and lots of great activities to make this camp so much more than childcare for these kids. I was so grateful for activities that got my son outdoors and doing fun indoor adventures too, keeping him active and engaged. Great camp!”
