Notable Legislative Changes and Updates for 2026

The Miscellaneous Statute Amendments Act, 2025 (Bill 13) changed some local elections rules for the Local Government Act, Local Election Campaign Financing Act, Vancouver Charter, School Act, and the Islands Trust Act in 2025.

Key changes include:

- Candidates may submit their nomination documents to the Chief Election Officer in-person, by mail, or electronically, such as by email or fax, so long as they are received by the end of the nomination period.
 - There is no longer a requirement for nomination document “originals” to be submitted if the nomination documents were initially submitted to the Chief Election Officer electronically.
- Candidate personal information, such as a residential address and phone number, can no longer be published online or in public notices. The name of the jurisdiction where the candidates reside will be included in public notices and in online nomination documents.
 - Unredacted nomination documents are still viewable by electors at local government offices; however, electors must first sign a declaration that they will not use the information for purposes other than those permitted under the Local Government Act.
- Elector organizations are no longer required to submit separate candidate endorsement documents. Candidates and the authorized principal official for the elector organization must now work together and complete the endorsement section of the nomination documents if a candidate plans on accepting the endorsement.
 - NOTE: As part of this process, both parties will also need to provide signed consent statements for the endorsement.
- Chief Election Officers may choose to identify authorized drop-off locations where electors may return their mail ballot packages if mail ballot voting has been authorized in the local government election bylaw. Chief Election Officers must include the location and office hours for each drop-off location in the notice of an opportunity to vote by mail Issued by the local government.

The Local Government Elections Regulation was also amended to expand the list of acceptable identity documents to be more inclusive of Indigenous voters and adds certainty that the following documents can be used as forms of identification when registering to vote in local elections, a:

- document, issued by the government of Canada, that certifies that the applicant is registered as an Indian under the Indian Act (Canada), such as a status card;
- citizenship or membership card issued by a First Nation; and,
- citizenship card issued by Métis Nation British Columbia.

Additionally, the Eligibility to Hold Public Office Act came into force in 2025 and prevents elected officials from simultaneously holding an elected position with the provincial government and an elected position in a local government or as a trustee on a board of education.

Introduction

Local elections are the foundation of democratic local governments in British Columbia (B.C.).

Locally elected officials are charged with making decisions that affect the daily lives of citizens, families, and the business community – municipal councils, regional district boards, boards of education, Islands Trust, local community commissions, specified parks boards and other local bodies influence jobs, create safe communities for British Columbians and shape the long-term vision for their community.

Local elections enable residents and property owners to determine the body of individuals who will make decisions and govern on their behalf following general voting day.

Local governments (municipalities and regional districts) have roles that include:

- acting as a political forum through which citizens, families and business owners within the local community express their collective vision; and,
- providing services and programs to the community.

General local elections for mayors, councillors, electoral area directors, school trustees, Islands Trust local trustees, local community commissioners and specified parks board commissioners in B.C. are held every four years.

Local governments hold by-elections to fill council and regional district board vacancies that occur between general local elections.

This guide provides those considering running for elected office, candidates, election officials, financial agents and the general public with comprehensive, detailed information about the local elections process. Including:

- the key participants in local elections (e.g., electors, candidates, candidate representatives, third party sponsors and elector organizations);
- the key administrators in local elections (e.g., local government election officials and Elections BC);
- elected officials' responsibilities;
- qualifications for office;
- the nomination process;
- election campaigns and candidate representatives;

General local elections will be held on Saturday, October 17, 2026.

The School Trustee Election Procedures in British Columbia, for School Trustees has been published by the Ministry of Education and Child Care and is available online.

- general voting day; and,
- taking office.

The guide focuses primarily on candidates for municipal councils and regional district boards; however, the information in the guide may also be applicable to candidates for the Islands Trust Council, local community commissions and specified parks boards.

Candidates must be familiar with the Local Elections Campaign Financing Act and its requirements. The Local Elections Campaign Financing Act is available online at BC Laws (www.bclaws.ca).

Elections BC has published several guides to support candidates, financial agents, elector organizations and third party sponsors. The guides are available online at: <https://elections.bc.ca/local-elections/local-guides/>

Local Elections Generally

Local Government Act – sections 59, 65, 66, 92 and 104–110
Local Elections Campaign Financing Act – sections 17, 31–41 and 73–79

Each local government (municipality and regional district) is responsible for running its own local election. Local governments may also run school trustee elections on behalf of boards of education.

Municipal councils and regional district boards appoint a Chief Election Officer to run the local election in accordance with the Local Government Act, the Local Elections Campaign Financing Act, the Vancouver Charter, the Community Charter, the School Act, the Offence Act and the local government's election bylaw.

An election bylaw enables a municipal council or regional district board to make decisions about election administration, such as whether: voting machines will be used; mail ballot voting will be available; additional advance voting opportunities will be offered; voter registration will be conducted in advance or on voting day only; and/or, nomination deposits will be required.

Elections BC administers, investigates and enforces the campaign financing disclosure requirements including elector organization registration, candidate expense limits, campaign contribution limits and the election advertising rules under the Local Elections Campaign Financing Act.

See Appendix A for more information about local election partner roles and responsibilities

The elections legislation contains provisions that must be consistently applied to all local elections; however, the legislation is also flexible enough that local governments are able to make choices about how to conduct elections in a manner that suits local circumstances (e.g., using the Provincial Voters List, and/or drawing by lot to break a tie between two or more candidates).

Voting Opportunities

General voting day is usually the most publicized or widely known voting opportunity resident electors and non-resident property electors have to cast their ballot in local elections.

Generally, at least two advance voting opportunities must be available whereby eligible electors may cast their ballot in local elections. Local governments have the authority to increase elector access to the voting process by offering mail ballot voting (to all electors) and holding additional voting opportunities for their citizens, including special voting opportunities.

General voting day for the 2026 general local elections is Saturday, October 17 .	General Voting Day General voting day is the primary opportunity for candidates seeking office as mayor, councillor, electoral area director, Islands Trust local trustee, local community commissioner or specified parks board commissioner to be elected to office by eligible electors. Voting places are open from 8:00 a.m. to 8:00 p.m. local time on general voting day.
	Advance Voting An advance voting opportunity must be held 10 days prior to general voting day.
The required advance voting opportunity for the 2026 general local election is Wednesday, October 7 .	This required advance voting day allows eligible electors who may not otherwise be able to vote on general voting day to cast their ballot. Local governments with populations greater than 5,000 are required to hold at least two advance voting opportunities.
	Local governments may set out in their election bylaws whether additional advance voting opportunities will be offered, or in communities of less than 5,000, whether the required additional advance voting opportunity will be waived.
Electors may not cast their ballot on the Internet or by telephone.	See Appendix B for other key dates in the 2026 general local elections.
	Special Voting Special voting opportunities may be held in any location – inside or outside the local government boundary – to provide eligible electors who may not otherwise be able to attend a voting place an opportunity to cast their ballots during local elections.
New or amended election bylaws must be adopted by Monday, July 6 in order to be in effect for the 2026 general local elections.	Special voting opportunities are generally held in hospitals, long-term care facilities or other locations where electors' mobility may be impaired. Only designated electors are eligible to vote at special voting opportunities – for example, a local government may decide only patients and staff would be entitled to vote during a special voting opportunity held at a hospital.
	Mail Ballot Voting Mail ballot voting provides all electors who are unable to attend a special, advance or general voting opportunity the ability to vote in local elections. Local governments must have provided for mail ballot voting in their election bylaw.
	If mail ballot voting has been authorized in the election bylaw, Chief Election Officers may now identify authorized drop-off locations for mail ballots.

Key Participants

Electors, candidates, financial agents, official agents, scrutineers, volunteers, third party sponsors and elector organizations are the key participants in the local elections process.

Electors

The right to vote in local elections is conferred on resident electors and non- resident property electors.

Resident electors are those people that may be eligible to vote in local elections based on where they reside. Non-resident property electors are those people that reside in one jurisdiction and own property in a different jurisdiction where they can also vote if they are eligible.

A resident elector must:

- be 18 years of age or older when registering to vote or will be 18 years of age on general voting day;
- be a Canadian citizen;
- have been a resident of British Columbia for at least six months immediately before registering to vote;
- be a resident of the jurisdiction when registering to vote; and,
- not be disqualified under the Local Government Act or any other enactment from voting in a local election or be otherwise disqualified by law.

A non-resident property elector must:

- be 18 years of age or older when registering to vote or will be 18 years of age on general voting day;
- be a Canadian citizen;
- have been a resident of British Columbia for at least six months immediately before registering to vote;
- have owned real property in the jurisdiction for at least 30 days before registering to vote; and,
- not be disqualified under the Local Government Act or any other enactment from voting in a local election or be otherwise disqualified by law.

Refer to the Local Government Act, s.67 or Vancouver Charter, s.25 (if you live in Vancouver) for the rules for determining B.C. residency.

An elector must have been a B.C. resident prior to Thursday, April 16 to register to vote on general voting day for the 2026 general local elections.

ELECTORS LIVING ON RESERVE

Eligible Indigenous and non-Indigenous electors living on Reserve are entitled to vote in local government elections. Where they vote will depend on whether the Reserve they live on is included in the Letters Patent of a municipality or regional district. Letters Patent establish the legal boundaries of local governments. Contact the nearest municipality or regional district to determine where to vote.

Refer to the Voter's Guide for Electors Living on Reserve brochure for more information about voter eligibility when living on Reserve.

Candidates

A candidate in the context of this guide is an individual seeking election as mayor, councillor, electoral area director, Islands Trust local trustee, local community commissioner or specified parks board commissioner. School trustee candidates should refer to guidance materials produced by the Ministry of Education and Child Care and the BC School Trustees Association.

A candidate must have been nominated by eligible electors and have been declared a candidate by the Chief Election Officer in order to run for elected office.

A nominator MUST be a qualified elector of the municipality or electoral area (or neighbourhood constituency, if applicable) where the candidate is running. Elector qualifications are listed in sections 65 and 66 of the Local Government Act and sections 23 and 24 of the Vancouver Charter.

Financial Agents

A financial agent is legally responsible for administering the candidate's campaign finances in accordance with the Local Elections Campaign Financing Act. It is the financial agent's responsibility to know, understand and follow the rules under the Local Elections Campaign Financing Act to avoid penalties such as disqualifications, administrative monetary penalties, or offences.

Financial agents have several obligations under the Local Elections Campaign Financing Act, including:

- opening and depositing contributions to, and paying election-related expenses from, a candidate's campaign account;
- keeping complete and accurate campaign financing records of all transfers, campaign contributions, election expenses, and other financial transactions;

- filing the candidate's required disclosure statement with Elections BC within 90 days following general voting day; and,
- ensuring the campaign is in compliance with contribution rules and campaign period expense limits.

A candidate must have a financial agent. A candidate is their own financial agent unless they appoint another individual to the position. The appointment of a financial agent by a candidate must be made in writing and the person must consent to the appointment.

Official Agents

Candidates may appoint an official agent to represent them during the election process. The official agent may act as a campaign manager or spokesperson or be the point of contact for the people helping on a candidate's election campaign.

Scrutineers

Scrutineers represent candidates at advance, special and general voting opportunities and observe voting procedures and scrutinize the ballot-counting process after the close of voting on general voting day. Scrutineers are also known as "candidate representatives" in provincial legislation.

Further information about scrutineers is available in the Scrutineers Guide to General Local Elections in B.C.

Volunteers

Volunteers are individuals who provide services, such as preparing and distributing flyers, canvassing, phoning eligible voters, handling logistics and taking on other election campaign-related activities. Candidates and elector organizations may enlist volunteer services. A volunteer must not receive any payment or remuneration for their services.

Contact Elections BC by phone at: 250 387-5305 or elsewhere in B.C. call: 1 800 661-8683 (Toll-free) or by email at: electoral.finance@elections.bc.ca for answers to questions about being a volunteer for an election campaign.

Third Party Sponsors

A third party sponsor is an individual or organization that sponsors election advertising independently from candidates and elector organizations.

In general, third party election advertising includes any transmission of a communication to the public by anyone other than a candidate or elector organization that directly or indirectly promotes or opposes a candidate or an elector organization during the pre-campaign and campaign periods. In the campaign period, it also includes advertising on an issue with which a candidate or elector organization is associated.

Third party sponsors must be independent from candidates and/or elector organizations and must not coordinate, or sponsor advertising together with, or on behalf of a candidate and/or elector organization. Third party sponsors must register with Elections BC before conducting advertising during the pre-campaign and campaign periods.

Refer to Elections BC's Sponsorship Contributions – Quick Reference Sheet for more information about third party sponsors.

Elector Organizations

Elector organizations are organizations that endorse or intend to endorse a candidate(s) in local elections. Elector organizations may be referred to as “civic political parties.”

Elector organizations may have their name, abbreviation or acronym shown on the ballot beside their endorsed candidate(s) name and generally promote their endorsed candidate(s) or the organization’s viewpoints during an election campaign.

Elector organizations must register with Elections BC prior to endorsing candidates or conducting any financial activity, including accepting contributions or incurring election expenses. The elector organization’s financial agent is responsible for ensuring compliance with the contribution and expense limits as well as the campaign financing disclosure requirements under the Local Elections Campaign Financing Act. Elector organizations must also file annual financial reports about their financial activities outside of elections years with Elections BC.

Refer to the Guide to Elector Organization Registration and Deregistration and the Guide to Campaign Financing for Elector Organizations and their Financial Agents in B.C. for more information about elector organizations.

Key Election Administrators

Unlike provincial elections, local elections are not managed by one organization. Each local government is responsible for running its own local elections, including voting, counting, reporting results, and accepting candidate nominations. Elections BC is responsible for administering the campaign financing and election advertising rules in the Local Elections Campaign Financing Act.

Election Officials

Municipal councils and regional district boards appoint a Chief Election Officer to administer local elections. The Chief Election Officer may be a senior local government employee (e.g., Corporate Officer) or a private contractor hired to conduct the election on the local government’s behalf.

Generally, Chief Election Officers are responsible for overseeing all local election administration activities, including: receiving nomination documents; declaring candidates; administering voting opportunities; counting ballots; and, declaring election results. The Chief Election Officer is also responsible for training the Deputy Chief Election Officer and Presiding Election Officials.

The Chief Election Officer must conduct the election in accordance with the Local Government Act, the Local Elections Campaign Financing Act, the Vancouver Charter, the Community Charter, the School Act, the Offence Act and the local government's election bylaw.

Elections BC

Elections BC is the non-partisan and independent Office of the Legislature responsible for the administration of the provincial electoral process in B.C. and the campaign financing and advertising rules for local elections and non-election assent voting events under the Local Elections Campaign Financing Act.

Elections BC administers, investigates and enforces the campaign financing disclosure requirements including expense limits, campaign contribution limits and election advertising rules under the Local Elections Campaign Financing Act.

Elections BC also has the authority to conduct investigations of any matter that might contravene the Local Elections Campaign Financing Act and levy administrative monetary penalties for non-compliance with the Local Elections Campaign Financing Act.

For more information about campaign financing and third party advertising rules, please visit Elections BC's homepage for local elections: <https://elections.bc.ca/local-elections/2026-general-local-elections/>

B.C. CHIEF ELECTORAL OFFICER

The B.C. Chief Electoral Officer's role is different from the Chief Election Officer's role. The B.C. Chief Electoral Officer is an independent officer of the Legislature who oversees the provincial electoral process in B.C. The Local Elections Campaign Financing Act gives the B.C. Chief Electoral Officer the additional role of overseeing campaign financing and election advertising in local elections and ensuring compliance with the Local Elections Campaign Financing Act.

About Being an Elected Official

Local Government Act – sections 198-199, 204 and 207
Community Charter – sections 81, 119, 123 and 125
Vancouver Charter – sections 9, 139 and 145.1

Regional districts are a federation of municipalities, electoral areas, and in some cases, Treaty First Nations, each of which have representation on the regional district board.

Candidates elected as electoral area directors and municipal council members who are appointed as municipal directors serve together on the regional district board. In some instances, they may also serve with Treaty First Nation directors appointed from the governing body of the Treaty First Nation.

There are responsibilities and restrictions prospective candidates may wish to consider before they decide to run for elected office – these include the term of office, time commitment, remuneration, voting, financial disclosure, privacy, ethics, responsible conduct and the respective roles of elected officials and local government staff.

Term of Office

Candidates elected in general local elections serve a four-year term. This term begins at the first municipal council or regional district board meeting following general local elections. The term for sitting councillors ends immediately before the first council meeting following the general local elections four years later. Regional district electoral area director terms end when their successor takes office following a general local election.

Time Commitment

Holding local office can represent a significant time commitment. Councils usually hold one meeting every week or two and regional district boards generally hold one meeting each month. A municipal council appoints members to the regional district board based on who they believe best represents the municipality's regional interests.

Councillors and regional district board members may also sit on special committees, boards or commissions that may require additional meetings and time commitment, along with attending public hearings and community engagement activities.

Elected officials are expected to be prepared for meetings so they can participate in an informed way and contribute to collective decision-making.

Absences from Meetings (Disqualification)

An elected official who is absent from meetings for 60 consecutive days or four consecutive regularly scheduled council or board meetings (whichever is longer) may be disqualified from office. This does not apply when the elected official is:

- absent because of illness or injury;
- provided permission by the municipal council or regional district board to be absent;
- on parental leave;

- on mandatory leave of absence; or,
- temporarily suspended as a result of a sanction imposed after a code of conduct investigation.

Attending a council or board meeting remotely is not considered an absence where the local government has electronic meeting provisions in its meeting procedure bylaw.

Remuneration

Elected officials generally receive honouraria or other financial compensation while in elected office. Remuneration varies from community to community – in some communities, elected officials may be compensated for part-time hours and find they sometimes work full-time hours. Local governments have the legislative authority and are responsible for setting the remuneration for elected officials.

Prospective candidates may wish to contact the local government to determine the remuneration elected officials receive in a given community.

Obligation to Vote

Every elected official present at a municipal council and regional district board meeting must vote “for” or “against” a motion. Those councillors or board members that did not expressly vote “yes” or “no” on a particular matter are deemed to have voted in favour of the motion.

The only exceptions to the obligation to vote would be when an elected official has declared a conflict of interest related to the matter being voted upon or an elected official is a respondent or complainant in a code of conduct investigation and the matter to be voted on is whether to impose recommended sanctions – the elected official would then be prohibited from voting and must leave the meeting until after the vote is taken.

Ongoing Financial Disclosure

Elected officials are required under the Financial Disclosure Act to file a financial disclosure statement at the time they submit nomination documents, each year while holding office and shortly after leaving office.

The Financial Disclosure Act disclosure statement details an elected official’s corporate and personal holdings and must be available for public inspection.

The Financial Disclosure Act is administered by the Ministry of Attorney General. Refer to Municipal officials – financial disclosure for more information about ongoing financial disclosure.

Prospective candidates are required to file a financial disclosure statement at the time they submit nomination documents to the Chief Election Officer. An elected official must file a financial disclosure statement annually with the local government Corporate Officer while in office. Failure to file a financial disclosure statement carries a penalty of up to $10,000.

The Financial Disclosure Act disclosure statement is not the same as the candidate campaign financing disclosure statement required under the Local Elections Campaign Financing Act that each candidate must file after general local elections.

Privacy

Elected officials perform many of their duties in the public eye and as such are subject to increased public interest and exposure – while campaigning for elected office, in the course of conducting their official duties on council or a regional district board, or while simply engaging in personal activities.

Election Campaigns

Legislative changes implemented for the 2026 general local elections have been made to better safeguard candidates' personal information while still providing electors with necessary information about candidate(s).

Public notices and the online publication of nomination documents will no longer include candidate personal information, such as personal telephone numbers and their residential addresses. Electors will instead see the name of the jurisdiction in which the candidate is a resident in public notices and online nomination documents – for example, the name of the municipality, electoral area, or treaty lands where the candidate resides.

Unredacted copies of the nomination documents for a candidate can still be viewed at the local government office. Prior to viewing nomination documents a person must sign a statement that they will only use the information included in them for the purposes authorized by the Local Government Act or the Local Elections Campaign Financing Act.

If a candidate, acting as their own financial agent, or an appointed financial agent has concerns about privacy, they can create an election campaign-specific email address or temporarily rent a P.O. Box for the duration of the local election to engage with electors, receive notices, and complete post-election reporting.

Social Media

Social media has increased the amount of exposure and feedback elected officials receive in the course of their duties. As such, aspects of an elected official's life may become a matter of public interest and may result in a loss of privacy to a lesser or greater degree.

Some steps a candidate could take to protect their privacy before starting an election campaign, include:

- familiarizing themselves with the privacy settings and moderation tools available on the social media platforms they are using;
- making social media accounts that provide a clear separation between public communications and private life optimized using each platform's settings; or,
- making a plan for responding to different kinds of behaviour or messages from users of those platforms.

If you believe you are experiencing what could be considered criminal harassment contact your local police department or VictimlinkBC for information and support: <https://www2.gov.bc.ca/gov/content/justice/criminal-justice/victims-of-crime/victimlinkbc>

The Ethics of Elected Office

Elected officials are entrusted with significant decision-making authority. Mayors, councillors and regional district board members are the stewards of their community's public assets and have a great deal of influence over, and responsibility for, the services and programs that citizens receive.

In their role, elected officials are expected to learn about and comply with local government legislation and other Acts, as applicable, including conduct rules, privacy and employment laws and policies, and local government procedures.

Elected officials must also conduct themselves in an open, transparent and accountable manner and avoid situations that may bring their integrity or the integrity of the municipal council or the regional district board into question.

Responsible Conduct

Responsible conduct is how locally elected officials conduct themselves in their relationships with elected colleagues, local government staff and the public – and is directly connected to how a community is governed. An elected official's relationships with their colleagues, local government staff and the public play a significant role in helping carry out their responsibilities.

Further information about responsible conduct and expectations for B.C.'s locally elected officials is available online.

Responsible conduct involves locally elected officials acting with integrity, accountability, respect, leadership and collaboration. Many local governments across B.C. utilize various tools to support responsible conduct including procedure bylaws and local government harassment and anti-bullying policies.

FOUNDATIONAL PRINCIPLES OF RESPONSIBLE CONDUCT

- Integrity means being honest and demonstrating strong ethical principles.
 - Upholding the public interest, serving citizens diligently to make decisions in the best interests of the community, and behaving in a manner that promotes public confidence in local government.
- Accountability means an obligation and willingness to accept responsibility or to account for one's actions.
 - Being transparent in how an elected official individually, and a council/ board collectively, conducts business and carries out their duties; listening to and considering the opinions and needs of the community in all decision-making; and, allowing for discourse and feedback.
- Respect means having due regard for others' perspectives, wishes, and rights; displaying deference to the offices of local government, and the role of local government in community decision-making.
 - Treating every person, including other members of the council/ board, staff and the public, with dignity, understanding and respect, and valuing the role of diverse perspectives and debate in decision-making.
- Leadership and Collaboration means an ability to lead, listen to and positively influence others; coming together to pursue a common goal through collective efforts.
 - Calmly facing challenges and providing considered direction on the issues of the day, while empowering colleagues and staff to do the same; creating space for open expression by others; taking responsibility for one's own actions and reactions; and, accepting the decisions of the majority.

Codes of Conduct

Responsible conduct is grounded in local government practices that include strong orientation on roles and responsibilities, local government policies and procedures and information on local government legislation. Many local governments have created codes of conduct to assist locally elected officials to conduct themselves in an appropriate manner.

A code of conduct is a set of rules outlining how locally elected officials must behave when carrying out their elected duties. Codes of conduct can also promote a positive, ethics-focused organizational culture and create a shared understanding about the roles and responsibilities of locally elected officials and local government staff, and what they can and cannot do.

It is anticipated that a new provincial code of conduct framework will be in place after the 2026 general local elections that will replace existing local codes of conduct. This framework will set a standard of behaviour for locally elected officials to follow that supports good community governance and a standard code of conduct complaint, investigation, and sanction process for all local governments to follow.

The guide Forging the Path to Responsible Conduct in Your Local Government provides further information about responsible conduct and codes of conduct.

Conflict of Interest and Other Ethical Standards

Disclosure of Conflict

The Community Charter conflict of interest rules set out that local elected officials who have a financial (pecuniary) interest in a matter that will be discussed or voted upon at a municipal council or regional district board meeting must declare a conflict of interest. Following their declaration, they may not participate in discussions, vote or exercise influence on that matter.

Elected officials must not vote on, or participate in discussions about, any matters where they have a direct or indirect financial interest that is not shared with the broader community.

Municipal councils or regional district board members who believe they have a financial interest in a matter under discussion, must:

- declare their interest in the matter;
- withdraw from the meeting;
- not participate in the discussion or vote; and,
- not attempt to influence, in any way, the voting of other elected officials on the matter.

An elected official who has a direct or indirect financial interest in a matter and has participated in discussions or attempted to influence the vote or votes on the matter, may be disqualified from office.

Given that conflict of interest is complex and dependent on the particular facts in a given circumstance, conflict of interest can only be decided by the courts; ultimately the courts have the expertise to apply the law to the facts of a specific situation.

Locally elected officials are expected to comply with their local code of conduct and related policies and procedures.

CONFLICT OF INTEREST

Local Government Act, section 205

Community Charter,
sections 100-109

Vancouver Charter,
sections 145.2-145.92

It would be best for that elected official to seek independent legal advice if they were unsure about whether they were in a conflict of interest.

SCENARIO – CONTRACTUAL CONFLICT?

Aaron Michaels owns Arrow Landscaping, a local gardening and landscaping company – they are also a municipal councillor.

Arrow Landscaping holds a contract with a nearby municipality and does not currently have a contract with the municipality where Aaron is a councillor – although the company did submit a bid the last time there was a request for tenders.

The current municipal landscaping contract is about to expire, and council is considering whether to extend the current contract or put the contract out to tender.

Councillor Michaels has a direct and/or indirect financial interest in this matter and is likely to be in a conflict of interest if they participate in any discussions or votes related to the landscaping contract.

Councillor Michaels would have a direct financial interest if Arrow Landscaping submitted a bid for the municipal landscaping contract. If only a small number of landscaping companies operate in the region, Councillor Michaels also has an indirect financial interest in decisions that affect the companies that compete with Arrow Landscaping for business – even if Arrow Landscaping did not submit a bid to provide services to the municipality.

Councillor Michaels must inform council about their connection to the contract and excuse themselves from further debate and discussion by leaving the room until the council moves on to another topic, to avoid any perception of influencing or affecting council's decision.

Inside Influence

An elected official who has a monetary interest in a matter must not use their office to attempt to influence a decision, recommendation, or action to be made or taken on a matter at a council or committee meeting, or by officers and employees of the local government. For example, a councillor would likely be in contravention of the inside influence restriction if they lobbied the municipal approving officer regarding an application to subdivide land owned by that councillor.

Outside Influence

An elected official who has a monetary interest in a matter must not use their office to attempt to influence a decision, recommendation, or other action to be made or taken on a matter by any other person or body. For example, a councillor would likely be in contravention of the outside influence restriction if they lobbied a provincial regulator on behalf of a business partner using the municipality's letterhead in correspondence with the provincial regulator.

Accepting Gifts

Elected officials must not accept a fee, gift or other personal benefit that is directly connected to the performance of their duties as a municipal council or regional district board member. Elected officials may, however, accept gifts or other personal benefits received as a matter of social obligations or protocol related to their position (such as a gift from a visiting delegation from another government) and compensation authorized by law.

An elected official who received such a gift must file a disclosure statement with the local government Corporate Officer. The statement must include: the nature of the gift; its source; when it was received; and, the circumstances under which it was given and received. The statement must be filed as soon as possible after the gift was received.

Disclosure of Contracts

Elected officials must publicly disclose any contract in which they have a monetary interest. This requirement applies to contracts between the local government and elected official, as well as to contracts between the local government and persons or companies with whom the elected official is connected. For example, this would include contracts with a company in which the elected official is a director, officer, significant shareholder or senior employee.

Use of Insider Information

An elected official must not use information that is not otherwise available to the general public for gaining or furthering a monetary interest. The Community Charter does not specify a time limit for this restriction. As such, the restriction applies indefinitely – or until the information is made available by the municipal council or regional district board to the general public.

Voting for an Illegal Expenditure

Elected officials must not vote for a bylaw or resolution authorizing the expenditure, investment, or other use of money contrary to the Community Charter, Local Government Act, or the Vancouver Charter.

Consequences

Elected officials who contravene any of the conflict-of-interest provisions may be disqualified from holding office and may be required to pay the local government for any financial gain as a result of the contravention.

Elected officials are not authorized to fulfill local government staff roles or duties.

Confidentiality

Past and present elected officials are required to keep confidential information private until such time as that information is made publicly available by the municipal council or regional district board.

Information discussed in closed meetings and information contained in records that have not been released to the public must be kept confidential until that information is released in an open meeting.

A local government may recover any damages that result from an elected official, or former elected official, who intentionally disclosed confidential information.

Elected Officials and Local Government Staff

Elected officials perform a role that is distinct from the role of the Chief Administrative Officer, or Corporate Officer, and other local government staff.

Role of Elected Officials

Elected officials are decision-makers and set strategic policies and priorities for the municipality or regional district – they do not implement policies and decisions or otherwise administer the local government.

Elected officials do not have regular contact with local government staff, nor do elected officials perform, or supervise, the roles or duties assigned to local government staff. An elected official must not interfere with, hinder, or obstruct the work of local government officers or employees.

Role of the Mayor or Board Chair

In addition to the responsibilities of a councillor or board member, the mayor and regional district board chair provides leadership by:

- recommending bylaws and resolutions that may assist in good governance;
- chairing meetings and maintaining the order and conduct of debate;
- attending ceremonies and meetings on behalf of the council/board;
- communicating information from the Chief Administrative Officer or outside meetings to council/board;
- establishing standing committees; and,
- communicating council or board decisions to the Chief Administrative Officer (CAO) and/or City Manager so staff may implement policies, programs and other decisions.

Role of Local Government Staff

Local government staff (e.g., Chief Administrative Officer and Corporate Officer) are responsible for implementing municipal council or regional district board decisions and providing advice to elected officials.

The Chief Administrative Officer or Corporate Officer is the primary point of contact between elected officials and local government staff (e.g., bylaw enforcement officers, public works staff) employed by the municipality or regional district.

Prospective candidates must have been a B.C. resident prior to Tuesday, March 10 to be eligible to run in the 2026 general local elections.

Local government employees must take a leave of absence to run for elected office and must resign from their position if elected.

Who May Run For Office

To run for local office (e.g. mayor, councillor, or electoral area director), you must:

- be 18 years of age or older on general voting day;
- be a Canadian citizen;
- have been a resident of British Columbia for at least six months immediately before filing nomination documents; and,
- not be disqualified under the Local Government Act or any other enactment from voting in an election in British Columbia or from being nominated for, being elected to or holding the office, or be otherwise disqualified by law.

Prospective candidates for local office must be nominated by at least two eligible electors from the jurisdiction where the person is seeking election. Local governments may require up to 10 or 25 nominators for each prospective candidate. Specific details about local nomination requirements are available by contacting the Chief Election Officer.

Local Government Employees

Local government staff (e.g., officers and employees), who wish to run for office in the local government where they work must take a leave of absence in order to run and they must resign if elected.

The requirement for a salaried employee to take a leave of absence and resign if successfully elected may apply in the following circumstances, a:

- municipal employee running for elected office in the municipality in which they are employed;
- municipal employee seeking to be elected as an electoral area director for the regional district of which their municipal employer is a member;
- regional district employee seeking to be elected as a member of the board of the regional district in which they are employed; and,
- regional district employee seeking to be elected as the mayor or councillor of a municipality that is a member of the regional district.

An employee who was not successful in their bid for local elected office would then return to the job from which they took the required leave of absence.

Local Government Volunteers

Generally, volunteers who do not receive monetary compensation for services provided to a local government are not “employees” for election purposes and would not be required to take a leave of absence or resign if elected.

A person may still be considered a volunteer if they are compensated for the requirements set out in the Volunteer Eligibility for Office Regulation.

If a volunteer receives monetary compensation from the local government (e.g., some volunteer firefighters) and their role is not covered by the Volunteer Eligibility for Office Regulation, they may be considered an ‘employee’ and would need to take a leave of absence and resign if successfully elected to office.

B.C. Public Service Employees

B.C. Public Service employees may seek nomination as a candidate in local elections. The duties of elected office must not affect the employee’s normal working hours and there must not be a conflict of interest between the employee’s duties as an elected official and their duties as a B.C. Public Service employee.

Federal Employees

Federal public service employees may seek nomination as a candidate in local elections after they obtain permission from the Public Service Commission of Canada (PSC).

Federal employees must not be declared as candidates or undertake any candidacy-related activities unless they have first obtained permission from the PSC. The PSC may grant permission, with or without conditions, when it is satisfied that seeking nomination as, or being, a candidate will not impair or be perceived as impairing an employee’s ability to perform their job-related duties in a politically impartial manner.

Visit: Political Activities - Canada.ca, or contact the PSC at 1 866 707-7152 (Toll-free), or by e-mail at cfp.activitespolitiques-politicalactivities.psc@canada.ca for further information.

Members of the B.C Legislative Assembly

Members of the Legislative Assembly of B.C. may not hold office both provincially and locally at the same time and will be deemed to have resigned from any elected local office when accepting provincial office.

Further information about local government employees, local government volunteers, B.C. Public Service employees and Federal Government employees eligibility to run for office is available online.

Who May Not Run for Office

A person is not eligible to run as a candidate for any local government office if they:

- have been convicted of an indictable offence and are disqualified from the date of the conviction until the date on which they are sentenced;
- have been convicted of and sentenced for an indictable offence and are in custody;
- have been found guilty of an election offence, such as intimidation or vote- buying or other election offence, and are prohibited from holding office;
- are judges of the Provincial Court, Supreme Court or Court of Appeal;
- are involuntarily confined to a psychiatric facility or other institution;
- have been disqualified for specified reasons such as, failing to:
 - file a campaign financing disclosure statement in a previous election;
 - make an oath of office; or,
 - attend local government meetings in the manner and frequency required by legislation; or,
- have been disqualified under the Local Government Act or any other enactment from voting in an election in British Columbia or from being nominated for, being elected to or holding the office, or be otherwise disqualified by law.

Nomination Period and Declaration of Candidates

The nomination period is the only time during which the Chief Election Officer is permitted to accept nomination documents and deposits (where applicable) from nominees for office. The nomination period begins at 9:00 a.m. local time on the 46th day before general voting day and ends at 4:00 p.m. local time on the 36th day before general voting day.

The Chief Election Officer is required to publish notice about the nomination period that includes: the offices for which candidates are to be elected; the dates, times and places at which nominations will be received; and, how interested individuals can obtain information about the requirements and procedures for making a nomination.

It is the nominee's responsibility to ensure all the required information in the nomination documents are submitted to the Chief Election Officer (or designate) by the deadline and that the information is accurate and complete. A nominee officially becomes a candidate when they have submitted all the required information in the nomination documents and have been subsequently declared a candidate by the Chief Election Officer.

The Chief Election Officer officially declares the nominees who have met the candidacy requirements and have become candidates for the local government election immediately following the end of the nomination period.

The Chief Election Officer may extend the nomination period until 4:00 p.m. local time on the third day after the end of the nomination period when there are fewer candidates than positions to be elected. Any subsequent nominees would be declared candidates at that time.

Who May Nominate

Prospective candidates for local office must be nominated by at least two eligible electors from the municipality or electoral area where the person is seeking election. Local governments have the ability in their election bylaw to require two, 10, or, in jurisdictions with populations greater than 5,000, 25 nominators for each prospective candidate.

A nominator must be eligible to vote in the jurisdiction as a resident elector or as a non-resident property elector. To nominate a candidate for local office, the nominator must:

- be 18 years of age or older when they register to vote or will be 18 years of age or older on general voting day;

The nomination period for the 2026 general local elections begins at 9:00 a.m. local time on Tuesday, September 1 and ends at 4:00 p.m. local time on Friday, September 11.

The declaration of candidates for the 2026 general local elections takes place at 4:00 p.m. local time on Friday, September 11.

The nomination period for the 2026 general local elections may be extended until 4:00 p.m. local time on Monday, September 14 if there are insufficient candidates.

Contact the Chief Election Officer to determine the number of nominators required by the local government. Local government contact information is available from CivicInfo BC

A nominator MUST be an elector of the municipality or electoral area (or neighbourhood constituency, if applicable). Elector qualifications are listed in sections 65 and 66 of the Local Government Act and sections 23 and 24 of the Vancouver Charter.

Elections BC's deadline for elector organizations to register to endorse candidates in the 2026 general local elections is Sunday, July 31.

- be a Canadian citizen;
- have been a resident of B.C. for at least six months before registering to vote;
- be a resident in the municipality or electoral area for which the nomination is being made, or in the case of a non-resident property elector, own real property in the municipality or electoral area, for 30 days immediately before the day of registration; and,
- not be disqualified under the Local Government Act or any other enactment from voting in an election or be otherwise disqualified by law.

Endorsement by an Elector Organization

Only elector organizations registered with Elections BC can complete the endorsement section of the candidate's nomination documents, receive campaign contributions, and incur election expenses. The elector organization must have a membership of at least 50 eligible electors (either resident electors or non-resident property electors) at the time it submits registration information to Elections BC.

An elector organization endorses a candidate on the ballot by working with the candidate to complete the endorsement section of the candidate's nomination documents. Candidates endorsed by elector organizations must indicate their consent to the endorsement by providing their signature as part of the nomination documents submitted to the Chief Election Officer.

An elector organization cannot endorse more candidates in an election than there are offices to be filled, and a candidate can only be endorsed by one elector organization.

Refer to the Guide to Elector Organization Registration and Deregistration and the Guide to Local Elections Campaign Financing in B.C. for Elector Organizations and their Financial Agents for more information about elector organization endorsements.

Nomination Documents

Nomination documents are generally available from local government offices during regular business hours – two to four weeks before the nomination period begins and remain available until the nomination period ends.

Nomination documents must include the following:

- the person's full name (first, middle, last);

- the person's usual name, if it is different from their full name and they would rather have that name appear on the ballot – e.g., Cathy instead of Catherine;
- the office for which the person is nominated (e.g., mayor, councillor, or electoral area director);
- the person's residential address;
- the person's mailing address, if different from their residential address;
- the names and residential addresses of nominators, and, if one or more of the nominators is a non-resident property elector, the address of the property owned by the nominator(s) in the jurisdiction;
- a statement signed by each nominator that, to the best of their knowledge, the person is qualified to hold local government office in British Columbia; and,
- signed statements by the candidate and the authorized principal official of an elector organization agreeing to an endorsement, if applicable.

The nomination documents must also include supporting information that demonstrates the person's consent and preparedness to run in general local elections, including:

- the person's written consent to the nomination;
- the person's financial disclosure statement, as required by section 2(1) of the Financial Disclosure Act;
- a signed declaration that either the person is acting as their own financial agent, or identifying the individual they have appointed as their financial agent;
- the person's solemn declaration that:
 - they are qualified to be nominated for office;
 - the information provided in the nomination documents is true;
 - they fully intend to accept the office if elected; and,
 - they are aware of the Local Elections Campaign Financing Act, understand the requirements and restrictions under that Act and intend to comply with those requirements.

An individual that is not submitting nomination documents in-person to the Chief Election Officer must make arrangements for completing the solemn declaration prior to the close of the nomination period.

Nomination documents can be submitted to the Chief Election Officer, or other person designated for that purpose, in-person, by mail, fax or email before 4:00 p.m. local time at the end of the nomination period.

Do not include additional information on nomination documents that is not required by legislation (e.g., personal telephone number).

Prospective candidates must be aware of, understand and intend to comply with the Local Elections Campaign Financing Act.

The nomination is not valid if all nomination documents are not received by the end of the nomination period.

Any changes to the nomination document information that takes place after the election results have been declared must be sent directly to Elections BC.

Standardized nomination forms are available from local governments across B.C.

SOLEMN DECLARATIONS

Candidates must make a “solemn declaration” as part of the nomination process. Solemn declarations require the person making the declaration to attest to the truthfulness of a given statement – such as that a candidate is aware of certain legislative requirements or intends to take office if elected.

Solemn declarations are legal statements and the person making the declaration is responsible for ensuring that they are making true and accurate solemn declarations. A person who made a false or misleading solemn declaration has committed an election offence and is subject to penalties including fines of up to $5,000 and/or imprisonment for up to one year.

Prospective candidates can make the required solemn declarations with a Commissioner for Taking Affidavits for B.C. (e.g., lawyer, notary public) or make a declaration before the Chief Election Officer when the prospective candidate submits their nomination documents.

Nomination Deposits

Local governments may require prospective candidates to pay a refundable nomination deposit of up to $100 when they submit their nomination documents – the deposits are fully refunded when candidates file their campaign financing disclosure statement with Elections BC within 90 days following local elections.

The nomination deposit is refunded by the local government when a nominee withdraws their candidacy before the nomination period ends.

Contact the Chief Election Officer to determine if a nomination deposit is required by the local government.

Challenge of Nomination

Nomination documents are available for public inspection in local government offices during regular office hours from the time they have been submitted until 30 days after the election results have been declared. A person must sign a statement that they will only use the information included in nomination documents for the purposes authorized by the Local Government Act or the Local Elections Campaign Financing Act prior to viewing the nomination documents.

Local governments may, by bylaw, choose to make all or part of the documents publicly available (e.g. on the Internet or by other electronic means) during all or part of the public inspection period. A candidate's residential address cannot be included in nomination documents available outside the local government office to enhance candidate privacy.

A person who inspects or accesses nomination documents must only use the information they contain for purposes related to:

- local election activities;
- the conflict-of-interest provisions in the Community Charter, Vancouver Charter, and/or School Act;
- the disqualification provisions in the Local Government Act, Local Elections Campaign Financing Act, Community Charter and/or Vancouver Charter; and/or,
- provisions in the Freedom of Information and Protection of Privacy Act.

An eligible elector, another nominee for office or the Chief Election Officer can challenge a prospective candidate's nomination when they believe the nomination documents are incorrect or the person is not eligible to be nominated for office. Nomination challenges must be made through an application to the Provincial Court.

The Provincial Court accepts challenges to nominations from the time the nomination documents were submitted to the Chief Election Officer until 4:00 p.m. local time on the fourth day after the nomination period ends. The application must briefly set out the facts upon which the challenge is based and be supported by an affidavit signed by the challenger. The Provincial Court is required to hear the challenge and make a ruling within 72 hours of the challenge period ending.

A prospective candidate whose nomination has been challenged is entitled to immediate notification of the challenge. They must receive a copy of the challenge of nomination application and the date and time of the Provincial Court hearing within 24 hours of the application being submitted to the Provincial Court. The prospective candidate is also entitled to an opportunity to prove their eligibility to be nominated for elected office. The Provincial Court decision on the challenge of nomination is final and may not be appealed.

Nomination documents for the 2026 general local elections are available for public inspection until Friday, November 20 if the official election results were declared on Wednesday, October 21.

Challenges to nominations for the 2026 general local elections can be submitted until 4:00 p.m. local time on Tuesday, September 15. The Provincial Court is required to hear the challenge and make a ruling by 4:00 p.m. local time on Friday, September 18.

Nominees for the 2026 general local elections may withdraw their candidacy until 4:00 p.m. local time on Friday, September 18.	Withdrawing a Nomination Prospective candidates may reconsider and withdraw their candidacy during the nomination period and for seven days following the close of nominations. The prospective candidate must provide written notice of their withdrawal to the Chief Election Officer, and the Chief Election Officer must then remove the prospective candidate's name from the ballot. In some situations, a prospective candidate may still withdraw their candidacy after the deadline by giving written notice to the Chief Election Officer. The Minister responsible for local government must approve the withdrawal before the Chief Election Officer can remove the prospective candidate's name from the ballot. It is unlikely a candidate withdrawal will be approved by the Minister if the withdrawal request is received after ballots are printed. The Minister is not obligated to approve a prospective candidate's withdrawal. Candidates no longer wishing to be elected are responsible for communicating this to electors. Any candidates who have withdrawn from general local elections after candidates have been declared by the Chief Election Officer at the end of the nomination period are required to file a campaign financing disclosure statement with Elections BC – even if they received no campaign contributions and incurred no election expenses. Candidates who fail to file a campaign financing disclosure statement, or do not obtain a Supreme Court order for relief from the obligation to file, forfeit their nomination deposit to the local government, are automatically disqualified from being nominated for, elected to or holding office anywhere in B.C. until after the next general local elections and potentially face additional penalties. A candidate declared elected also loses their seat and the seat then becomes vacant. Campaign financing disclosure statements are not required when a prospective candidate withdraws before the declaration of candidates. Any nomination deposit paid by the prospective candidate is returned after the nomination period ends. Refer to Elections BC's Guide to Local Elections Campaign Financing in B.C. for Candidates and their Financial Agents for more information about campaign financing disclosure.
Prospective candidates are not required to file candidate campaign financing disclosure documents for the 2026 general local elections if they withdraw before candidates are declared.

What are Election Campaigns?

An election campaign is a connected series of actions (e.g., advertising, canvassing, meetings and speeches) for the purpose of electing a candidate or a group of candidates.

Typically, an election campaign involves candidates and/or elector organizations communicating with the electorate, through:

- public appearances and speeches;
- advertisements on television, radio, the Internet and social media (e.g., Instagram, Bluesky, YouTube), in newspapers and in magazines;
- brochures, signs, posters and billboards;
- mail inserts and newsletters; and,
- bumper stickers, buttons and displays and/or exhibitions.

An election campaign may be undertaken by a candidate or an elector organization during local elections. In some cases, candidates and elector organizations may work together on an election campaign where the elector organization has endorsed the candidate; in other cases, a group of candidates who are not endorsed by an elector organization may choose to work together to share costs.

ELECTION PERIOD, PRE-CAMPAIGN PERIOD AND CAMPAIGN PERIOD

The election period for general local elections begins at the start of the calendar year (January 1) in which the general local elections will be held and ends at the start of the campaign period (28 days before general voting day).

The pre-campaign period for general local elections begins on the 89th day before general voting and ends on the 29th day before general voting day.

The campaign period for general local elections begins on the 28th day before general voting day and ends on the close of general voting day.

There are a number of election financing rules, including recording and disclosure requirements that apply to candidates, elector organizations and third party sponsors during the election, pre-campaign and campaign periods.

The election period for the 2026 general local elections begins on Thursday, January 1 and ends at midnight on Friday, September 18.

The pre-campaign period for the 2026 general local elections begins on Monday, July 20 and ends on Friday, September 18.

The campaign period for the 2026 general local elections begins on Saturday, September 19 and ends on Saturday, October 17.

Elector Organizations Must be Registered

Only elector organizations registered with Elections BC can endorse candidates on their nomination documents, receive campaign contributions and incur election expenses.

Candidate Election Campaigns

Candidates generally direct their own election campaigns during local elections. Candidates may retain an election campaign manager and campaign volunteers to prepare and distribute flyers, call eligible voters, handle logistics and take on other election campaign-related activities. Candidates have considerable flexibility in organizing their election campaigns, provided they avoid committing election and/or campaign financing offences.

Refer to Elections BC's Candidate Information webpage for more information about the campaign financing and election advertising rules that apply to candidates.

Elector Organization Election Campaigns

Fundamentally, elector organizations endorse candidates. Elector organizations may have their name, abbreviation or acronym shown on the ballot beside their endorsed candidate(s) name and generally promote their endorsed candidate(s) or the organization's viewpoints during an election campaign.

Elector organizations and candidates each direct their own separate election campaign; however, an endorsed candidate may decide not to run their own election campaign and instead rely solely on the elector organization to run campaign activities on the candidate's behalf.

Alternatively, a candidate and an elector organization may agree to run complementary campaigns in which both the candidate and the elector organization undertake election campaign activities designed to elect that candidate within a specific jurisdiction.

Campaign financing and election advertising rules apply to elector organization election campaigns. Every elector organization must appoint a financial agent to ensure the financial aspects of the election campaign are run in accordance with the Local Elections Campaign Financing Act.

All candidates endorsed by an elector organization must include the endorsement on their nomination documents and have a written campaign financing arrangement with the elector organization.

Refer to Elections BC's Elector Organizations webpage for more information about the campaign financing and election advertising rules that apply to elector organizations.

Third Party Sponsor Advertising

A third party sponsor is an individual or organization that conducts election advertising independently from a candidate or elector organization campaign. Third party sponsors must be independent from candidates and/or elector organizations and must not coordinate, or sponsor advertising together with, or on behalf of a candidate and/or elector organization.

Third party sponsors are required to register with Elections BC before undertaking election advertising during the pre-campaign and campaign periods.

Refer to Elections BC's Local Third Party Advertising Sponsors webpage for more information about contribution and expense limits and election advertising rules that apply to third party sponsors.

Key Election Campaign Activities

Key campaign activities may include canvassing, telephone banks, events and advertising designed to promote a candidate or a group of candidates and communicate their election platform to the electorate during an election campaign.

Campaign activities usually trigger campaign financing rules and candidates must ensure they are aware of and follow the rules. A candidate that has failed to follow campaign financing requirements may have committed an offence and may be subject to penalties.

Visit Elections BC's website or contact Elections BC staff by phone at: 250 387-5305, or elsewhere in B.C. call: 1 800 661-8683 (Toll-free), or by email at: electoral.finance@elections.bc.ca for detailed information about campaign financing rules.

Advertising Rules

There are limits placed on sponsorship contributions made by eligible individuals to third party sponsors.

LIST OF REGISTERED ELECTORS (VOTER'S LIST)

Each candidate is entitled to one free copy of a list of registered electors (voter's list) if one is used by the local government to register electors in advance. Additional copies may be available to candidates at a cost determined by the local government. A list of registered electors is not available if the local government only permits registration on voting day (same day registration).

The list of registered electors must only be used by candidates for election campaign- related purposes – such as door-knocking, canvassing voters, flyer distribution, and/or calling eligible voters to remind them to “get out and vote.”

A candidate must agree, in writing, that the information provided on the list of registered electors will only be used for election purposes before receiving a copy of the list. Contact the local government for more information about how to obtain a copy of the list of registered electors, if it is available.

A candidate using the list of registered electors must treat the personal information it contains carefully. The list must be returned to the local government or otherwise destroyed following the local elections.

It is an election offence to transmit election advertising on general voting day.

Canvassing

Candidates and campaign volunteers may canvass door-to-door throughout the community in order to raise awareness about the candidate or elector organization and their election platform, identify which issues are important to electors and determine elector support for a given candidate.

Candidates and their canvassers must have reasonable access to distribute candidate information at cooperative, strata and rental properties from 9:00 a.m. to 9:00 p.m. local time during the campaign period.

Government-issued photo ID and proof of candidacy, or written authorization to canvass on behalf of a candidate, must be made available upon request when a candidate and/or their canvassers are canvassing in a cooperative, strata or rental property.

Telephone Banks

Candidates may establish telephone banks as one aspect of their election campaign. Campaign volunteers may use the telephone bank to contact eligible electors to raise awareness about the candidate or elector organization, determine the level of support for their candidate and identify which issues are important to electors.

In-person telephone banks (as opposed to autodialing robocalls) may also be used by candidates or their representatives during advance and general voting opportunities to contact and remind eligible electors to “get out and vote.” Election advertising, including phone calls, encouraging electors to vote for a particular candidate is not permitted on general voting day.

In-person Events

Candidates may hold “meet and greet” events (e.g., luncheons or fundraising dinners) where the electorate can listen to their platform or position on specific issues and ask questions.

Local governments, community groups and local media often provide opportunities for candidates to communicate their platform or position on specific issues to the electorate at “all-candidate forums.” Local governments are not obligated to organize, supervise or inform candidates of these events.

Advertising

Advertising is a key component in most local election campaigns. Subject to the campaign financing and election advertising rules in the Local Elections Campaign Financing Act, candidates, registered elector organizations and registered third party sponsors may use print, radio, television, the Internet and/or social media advertising to promote or oppose candidates, elector organizations or points of view during an election campaign.

Election advertising and campaigning of any sort is prohibited within 100 metres of a voting place during voting proceedings. This includes displaying signs, posters, flyers, bumper stickers on vehicles parked outside the voting place, badges worn by supporters, canvassing or soliciting votes, or otherwise trying to influence electors to vote for a particular candidate.

Refer to Elections BC's Guide to Local Elections Campaign Financing in B.C. for Elector Organizations and their Financial Agents for more information about election advertising.

Signs

Signs play a significant role in election advertising. Candidates may have supporters display signs on their behalf in windows, on lawns, or post signs in other public places throughout the jurisdiction.

Local governments have the authority to regulate the size, placement, maintenance and removal of signs and other forms of public advertising – the rules may be quite different between local governments.

The Ministry of Transportation and Transit regulates sign placement along Provincial highways, medians, bridges and along major roadways. Contact the local government or local Ministry of Transportation and Transit office before placing election campaign signs on medians, bridges or along major roads.

Sponsorship Information

Sponsorship information, also known as an authorization statement, is required on most election advertising during the pre-campaign and campaign periods. Sponsorship information must include: the name of the financial agent, an indication that it was authorized by the identified financial agent, a B.C. phone number, or B.C. mailing address or email address at which the financial agent can be contacted.

Refer to Election BC's Guide to Campaign Financing for Local Candidates and Financial Agents in B.C. for more details about sponsorship information.

Local government contact information is available from CivicInfo BC online at: <https://www.civicinfo.bc.ca/directories>.

Local Election Offences and Penalties

Local Government Act – sections 161-166

Candidates and campaign workers convicted of vote-buying, intimidation, campaigning near a voting place during voting proceedings, providing or distributing false information, or conducting other activities contrary to the Local Government Act or Vancouver Charter may be subject to penalties.

Election Offences

Vote-buying

It is an election offence to offer inducements to an elector to vote or not to vote, or to vote or not vote for a particular candidate. Inducements include money, gifts, valuable consideration, refreshments, entertainment, office, placement, employment and any other benefit of any kind. It is also an offence for an elector to accept inducements for refraining from voting or voting in a particular way.

Examples of vote-buying include buying coffee for an elector or volunteering to drive an elector to a voting place in exchange for their vote for a particular candidate. These activities would be permitted provided there is no subjective intent to influence another person's voting behaviour.

Intimidation

It is an election offence to intimidate an elector, by action or threat, to compel the elector to vote, to vote for a particular candidate, or to refrain from voting. It is also an election offence to punish an elector for voting or refraining from voting generally, or for voting for a particular candidate(s).

Intimidation means to use force, violence or restraint against a person; inflict injury, harm, damage or loss on a person or property; or to threaten to do any of those actions.

Other Election Offences

Other election offences under the Local Government Act and Vancouver Charter include, and are not limited to:

- falsely withdrawing a candidate from an election, distributing a false statement that a candidate has withdrawn or falsely withdrawing an elector organization's candidate endorsement, or consenting to nomination knowing they are not qualified to be nominated;
- participating in fraudulently voting, including voting when not entitled to do so, voting more than once in an election, obtaining a ballot in the name of another person, or failing to preserve the secrecy of a ballot;

- interfering with the secrecy of the ballot, tampering with ballots or ballot boxes, or printing, reproducing, giving out or destroying ballots without authorization;
- campaigning and engaging in other activities that show support for one candidate over another, or for an elector organization, within 100 metres of a voting place during voting proceedings;
- providing false or misleading information or statements/declarations when the Local Government Act or Vancouver Charter requires or authorizes individuals to provide it;
- inspecting or accessing election materials or using the information for purposes not authorized under the Local Government Act or Vancouver Charter; and,
- interfering, hindering or obstructing an election official or other person in the performance of their duties under the Local Government Act, Vancouver Charter, or Local Elections Campaign Financing Act.

Election Offences Under the Local Elections Campaign Financing Act

Under the Local Elections Campaign Financing Act an individual or organization must not transmit election advertising to the public on General Voting Day except advertising:

- on the internet for the sole purpose of encouraging voters to vote;
- on the internet that was not changed during general voting day; and/or,
- by means of signs, posters, banners, distributing pamphlets.

In addition, individuals and organizations could be penalized for:

- failing to file a disclosure statement or financial report;
- filing a false or misleading disclosure statement;
- exceeding the expense limit;
- failing to return prohibited campaign / sponsorship contributions;
- failing to include sponsorship information on election advertising; and/or,
- making or accepting prohibited loans.

Election offences are generally dealt with by the Supreme Court of B.C. Generally, local election offences are prosecuted if Crown counsel chooses to proceed with laying charges after the police have undertaken an investigation and made a recommendation to Crown counsel.

Reporting and Enforcement of Local Election Offences

The police are responsible for conducting an investigation and recommending to Crown counsel whether charges could be laid for serious election offences such as vote buying or intimidation. Crown counsel makes the determination as to whether to proceed with a prosecution. Election offences are prosecuted through the courts.

An individual can contact their local Chief Election Officer and/or police if they believe someone has committed an election offence. In some cases, the local Chief Election Officer will be able to deal with the offence immediately (e.g. covering up a sign placed within 100 metres of a voting location), and in others the police may need to be involved.

The Chief Election Officer may refer matters to the police and may also submit an application to the court about the validity of the election if the Chief Election Officer becomes aware that vote buying, intimidation or voting when not entitled occurred during the election.

An officer, director, employee or agent who authorizes, permits, or acquiesces in the offence commits the same offence when an organization commits an offence.

The time limit for initiating the prosecution of an offence under Part 3 of the Local Government Act or Part 1 of the Vancouver Charter is one year after the date on which the act or omission that is alleged to constitute the offence occurred.

Prosecution of an offence under the Local Elections Campaign Financing Act may only commence with the approval of the BC Chief Electoral Officer. If the BC Chief Electoral Officer believes there are reasonable grounds that an individual or organization has contravened the Local Elections Campaign Financing Act or its regulations, the BC Chief Electoral Officer may refer the matter to the Criminal Justice Branch of the Ministry of Attorney General for a determination of whether to approve a prosecution.

Contraventions of campaign financing rules that result in an offence are determined by the Supreme Court of B.C. A person that believes that a person or organization has committed a campaign financing election offence can notify Elections BC.

Local Election Penalties

A person who commits vote buying or intimidation is liable to a fine of up to $10,000, imprisonment of up to two years, and/or disqualification from holding office for up to seven years, in addition to any other penalty under legislation.

A person or unincorporated organization that commits any other election offence under the Local Government Act or the Vancouver Charter is liable to a fine of up to $5,000 and/or imprisonment of up to one year.

The Local Government Act and Vancouver Charter provide that a person or unincorporated organization is not guilty of an offence if the person or organization exercised due diligence to prevent the commission of the offence.

Offences in the Local Elections Campaign Financing Act are separated into higher penalty offences and lower penalty offences. Higher penalty offences include offences for failure to file by compliance deadline and general offence in relation to false or misleading information. An individual who commits a higher penalty offence may face a fine of up to $10,000 and/or imprisonment of up to two years. An organization that commits a higher penalty offence may face a fine of up to $20,000.

Lower penalty offences apply to all other offences under the Local Elections Campaign Financing Act. A person who commits a lower penalty offence may face a fine of up to $5,000 and/or imprisonment of up to one year. An organization that commits a lower penalty offence may face a fine of up to $10,000.

Role of Local Election Officials

The Chief Election Officer and Presiding Election Officials are responsible for maintaining the integrity and secrecy of the voting process. This includes: restricting or regulating the number of people admitted to a voting place; removing or covering election advertising within 100 metres of a voting place during voting proceedings; requiring a person to show identification when they believe the person is at a voting place when not permitted to be present, disturbing the peace and order of voting, interfering with voting proceedings or contravening elections legislation.

The Chief Election Officer or Presiding Election Officials may order anyone engaged in these activities, including scrutineers, to leave a voting place and remove, or have a peace officer remove, the person. Election officials also have the authority to challenge an elector's ability to vote on the basis that they are not entitled to vote or that they accepted an inducement to vote.

In extreme cases the Chief Election Officer or Presiding Election Official may adjourn voting proceedings when they believe people's health or safety at the voting place or the integrity of the vote is at risk.

Elections BC can delegate authority to Chief Election Officers during the campaign period to enter onto property and remove, cover or destroy election advertising that contravenes the Local Elections Campaign Financing Act.

See Appendix A for information about local elections partner roles and responsibilities.

See Appendix C for questions and answers about the Chief Election Officer's role and responsibilities.

Candidate Representatives

Local Government Act – sections 102 and 103
Vancouver Charter – sections 53 and 54
Local Elections Campaign Financing Act – section 17

Contact the local government for information about how candidate representatives make their solemn declaration.

A candidate may appoint an individual or individuals to assist running an election campaign and to otherwise represent the candidate when the candidate is unable to appear in person. Each candidate may choose to appoint an official agent and/or scrutineers. Every candidate must have a financial agent – they are their own financial agent unless they appoint another individual to the position.

Each candidate representative who attends a voting place must have made a solemn declaration to preserve the secrecy of the ballot and not interfere with an elector marking a ballot. Official agents and scrutineers may attend a voting place once they have made their solemn declaration – financial agents must have permission from the Presiding Election Official to be present at a voting place. A candidate representative present at election proceedings must carry a copy of their appointment document.

Financial Agent

A financial agent is a representative that candidates and elector organizations are legally required to have during an election campaign. Financial agents are responsible for administering campaign finances in accordance with the Local Elections Campaign Financing Act. This includes:

- opening and depositing contributions to, and paying election-related expenses from, a candidate's campaign account;
- maintaining records for campaign contributions, election expenses and all other campaign transactions; and,
- filing the candidate's required disclosure statement with Elections BC within 90 days following general voting day.

A candidate is their own financial agent unless they appoint another individual to the position. A candidate who chooses to appoint another person to act as their financial agent must make that appointment in writing. The appointment must include the:

- person's full name;
- effective date of the appointment;
- mailing address, address for service, telephone number and email address (if available) for the person appointed; and,
- person's signed consent to act as the financial agent.

A candidate is their own financial agent unless they appoint another individual to be their financial agent.

The appointment must be signed by the candidate and submitted to the Chief Election Officer as part of the nomination package. The financial agent appointment information is then forwarded by the Chief Election Officer to Elections BC as soon as practicable.

A person may act as a financial agent for more than one election campaign. A person may act as the financial agent for an elector organization and all candidates the elector organization has endorsed. However, each election campaign may have only one financial agent at a time.

Refer to Elections BC's Guide to Local Elections Campaign Financing in B.C. for Candidates and their Financial Agents for information about the financial agent's role and responsibilities.

Official Agent

Candidates may appoint an official agent to represent them during the election process. The official agent can act as the campaign manager or spokesperson or be the point of contact for the people helping on the candidate's election campaign. Official agents can appoint scrutineers to represent the candidate during voting proceedings.

A candidate must appoint their official agent in writing and deliver the appointment (including name and address) to the Chief Election Officer as soon as practicable after the appointment has been made.

Scrutineers

Scrutineers represent candidates at voting opportunities by observing voting procedures and scrutinizing the ballot-counting process at the close of voting on general voting day. A candidate and/or their official agent may appoint scrutineers.

Each candidate is permitted under the Local Government Act or Vancouver Charter to appoint one scrutineer for each ballot box used at a voting place. A local government may pass a bylaw to permit each candidate to have more than one scrutineer present for each ballot box used at a voting place and establish specific restrictions and conditions in the bylaw as deemed necessary.

The scrutineer appointment must be made in writing and must include the person's full name and mailing address. The appointment must be signed by the candidate and submitted to the Chief Election Officer as soon as practicable after the appointment has been made.

Refer to the Scrutineer's Guide to Local Elections in B.C. for further information about scrutineers.

Candidate representatives (e.g., scrutineers) must carry copies of their appointment documents whenever they represent the candidate at an election proceeding.

Voting places must be open from 8:00 a.m. to 8:00 p.m. local time on general voting day and the required advance voting opportunities.

Voting Times

Voting places must be open from 8:00 a.m. to 8:00 p.m. local time on general voting day, the required advance voting opportunity and another advance voting opportunity (date can be determined by the local government) for local governments with populations greater than 5,000.

Local governments may set specific hours for any special voting opportunities or additional advance voting opportunities held during local elections.

All voting places must close by 8:00 p.m. local time on general voting day.

Conduct at Voting Places

The Chief Election Officer has the authority to establish the process and standards of conduct that voters, candidates and candidate representatives (e.g., scrutineers) must abide by at voting places during advance, special and general voting day opportunities.

Candidate Conduct

Candidates must not be present at a voting place during an advance or special voting opportunity or on general voting day except to cast their ballot. Candidates must not campaign within 100 metres of a voting place on general voting day – it is an election offence to do so. Candidates may wish to cast their ballot at an advance voting opportunity to avoid the appearance of campaigning on general voting day.

Scrutineer Conduct

Candidates (and/or their official agent) may appoint scrutineers to observe the voting and ballot counting process at voting places during advance, special and general voting opportunities.

Scrutineers must follow the legislation, the local government's election bylaw and the direction of the Chief Election Officer and Presiding Election Official at the voting place and during voting proceedings and the ballot counting process. Scrutineers must not interfere with the voting place routines and/or the election officials' duties. Scrutineers are not permitted to handle election documents.

While scrutineers are appointed to represent candidates at a voting opportunity, they are not there to campaign for the candidates. Scrutineers are there to neutrally observe the voting process and are not permitted to wear anything that shows support for a particular candidate (e.g., shirt, hat, button) while they are in or near the voting place.

Local governments, by bylaw, and Chief Election Officers have the authority to establish specific rules governing scrutineer conduct and responsibilities.

Scrutineers and election officials generally only communicate during times when no voters are present at the voting place – unless the scrutineer has challenged a voter’s eligibility to receive a ballot. A scrutineer may challenge a voter’s right to receive a ballot based on their belief that the elector is not entitled to vote or has accepted an inducement to vote. Challenges to a voter’s eligibility to receive a ballot must be raised before the ballot is issued to the elector.

Counting Ballots

Ballot counting begins after voting places close at 8:00 p.m. local time on general voting day. No one is permitted to enter or leave a voting place while the ballot count is in progress.

Candidates are entitled to be present during the ballot count and may assign one representative (e.g. scrutineer or official agent) to each location where ballot counting takes place. Candidates or candidate representatives must not touch the ballots or ballot boxes or otherwise interfere with election officials during the counting process – except to object to a ballot’s acceptance or rejection by an election official.

Candidates or candidate representatives must raise their objection to a ballot’s acceptance or rejection with the Presiding Election Official supervising the ballot counting process. Objections to a ballot’s acceptance or rejection must be raised while the ballot is being considered during the count.

The Presiding Election Official’s decision to reject or accept a ballot can only be overturned by the Chief Election Officer – or by the Provincial Court following a judicial recount.

Ballot accounts, that outline individual voting place results and reconcile the number of ballots distributed with the number of ballots cast in the local government election, are prepared at each voting place. Ballots are then packaged and returned to the Chief Election Officer at the local government office, where the official election results are then determined. Objections to the Presiding Election Official’s decision relative to the ballot in question are recorded and submitted with the ballot account for that voting place to the Chief Election Officer.

Each candidate is notified by the Chief Election Officer as to the time and location for the final ballot count and when the official election results will be declared. The official election results may not necessarily be announced on general voting day.

Ballot counting for the 2026 general local elections begins after 8:00 p.m. local time on Saturday, October 17.

After General Voting Day

Local Government Act – sections 144–157 and 202
Community Charter – sections 120 and 124
Vancouver Charter – sections 140 and 143

Official election results for the 2026 general local elections must be declared by 4:00 p.m. local time on Wednesday, October 21.

The Local Government Act, Community Charter and Vancouver Charter provide for several legislated procedures (e.g., breaking tie votes, taking the oath of office) that may or must be completed following general voting day.

Announcing Results

The official election results may not immediately be announced after the close of voting on general voting day – the Chief Election Officer may announce preliminary results after the ballot count on general voting day and announce the official results at a later date.

The official election results must be declared within four days after the close of voting on general voting day. The Chief Election Officer must state the number of ballots cast in favour of each candidate for each position. Those candidates with the most votes would then be declared elected.

Judicial Recount

A Chief Election Officer must refer an election for judicial recount if two or more candidates have the same number of votes following the determination of official election results.

The period to apply for a judicial recount for the 2026 general local elections ends on Monday, October 26.

An eligible elector, candidate, candidate representative (e.g., scrutineer or official agent), or the Chief Election Officer may apply to the Provincial Court for a judicial recount. An application for a judicial recount can only be made on the basis that the:

- ballots were incorrectly accepted or rejected;
- ballot account does not accurately record the number of valid votes for a candidate; or,
- final determination of results did not correctly calculate the total number of valid votes for a candidate.

The period to apply for a judicial recount begins as soon as the official election results have been declared and ends nine days after the close of general voting.

A judicial recount for the 2026 general local elections must be completed by Friday, October 30.

The applicant must notify candidates and the Chief Election Officer about the judicial recount application. The applicant, the Chief Election Officer, candidates and their official agents and legal counsel are entitled to be present during a judicial recount. The Provincial Court has the authority to determine any other people permitted to attend the recount.

Judicial recounts are based on the ballots and ballot boxes used in the local elections. The Provincial Court declares the election results at the completion of the ballot recount.

A tie between two or more candidates must be broken in accordance with the Local Government Act or Vancouver Charter and the local government election bylaw. The judicial recount must be completed within 13 days after the close of general voting.

Breaking Ties

There are two methods for breaking ties in a local election when two or more candidates have an equal number of votes after a judicial recount – drawing by lot (a random draw) or by runoff election.

A local government must have passed an election bylaw that specifies that drawing by lot will be used as the method for breaking a tie. Otherwise, a runoff election must be held to break the tie.

A local government election bylaw that states ties will be broken by lot means that the names of the tied candidates are written on pieces of paper, placed into a container, and one name is drawn by a Provincial Court-appointed person. The Provincial Court then declares the candidate whose name was drawn to be elected to office.

A runoff election means that all unsuccessful candidates from the original election may run in a second election.

The Chief Election Officer is required to notify candidates that a runoff election has been called to break the tie. Candidates then have three days to notify the Chief Election Officer if they do not intend to run in the runoff election.

The Chief Election Officer must set a date for the runoff election for a Saturday no later than 50 days after the judicial recount was completed. Generally, runoff elections are conducted under the same rules as the original local election.

Invalid Election

A candidate, the Chief Election Officer or at least four eligible electors of the jurisdiction, may petition the Supreme Court to invalidate a local election.

A petition to invalidate a local government election may only be made on the basis that:

- an elected candidate was not qualified to hold office or has ceased to be qualified (e.g. no longer a resident of B.C.);
- the election was not conducted in accordance with elections legislation; or,

A petition to invalidate a 2026 general local election must be made by Friday, November 20 if the official election results were declared on Wednesday, October 21.

Candidates elected in the 2026 general local elections must make an oath or solemn affirmation by Saturday, December 5 if the official election results were declared on Wednesday, October 21.

- the rules around vote-buying, intimidation or voting when not entitled were contravened.

A petition to invalidate a local election must be made within 30 days after the official election results were declared. The Supreme Court must set a date for the petition to be heard between 10 and 21 days after the petition was filed. The petitioner(s) must serve the local government with notice of the petition to declare the election invalid.

Oath of Office

Every municipal councillor must make an oath of office or solemn affirmation before they can assume their position on municipal council. Every electoral area director must also make an oath of office or solemn affirmation before they can assume their position on the regional district board.

The default oath of office requires elected officials to affirm:

- I am qualified to hold the office of[office]..... for the [jurisdiction]... to which I have been [elected] [appointed];
- I have complied with the provisions of the[applicable Act]...in relation to my election to this office; [omit this point for persons who have been appointed];
- I will abide by all rules related to conflicts of interest under the.... [applicable Act]....;
- I will carry out my duties with integrity;
- I will be accountable for the decisions that I make, and the actions that I take, in the course of my duties;
- I will be respectful of others;
- I will demonstrate leadership and collaboration; and,
- I will perform the duties of my office in accordance with the law.

Municipal councillors appointed to the regional district board must make a second oath of office or solemn affirmation in addition to the oath of office or solemn affirmation they made before they assumed their position on the municipal council.

Candidates elected in general local elections must make their oath of office or solemn affirmation within 45 days after the official election results were declared. Acclaimed candidates must make an oath of office or solemn affirmation within 50 days of the date set for general voting – had voting been required.

The oath of office or solemn affirmation may be made before a judge, justice of the peace, Commissioner for Taking Affidavits for B.C. or the local government Corporate Officer. Candidates who fail to make an oath or affirmation of office within the legislated timeframe are disqualified from holding office until after the next general local elections.

Taking Office

A candidate may take the oath of office or make a solemn affirmation as soon as they are declared elected by the Chief Election Officer; however, elected candidates do not take office immediately.

The inaugural municipal council meeting after the 2026 general local elections must be held by Tuesday, November 10.

Municipal council members formally take office at the first regularly scheduled council meeting following general local elections as long as they have completed their oath of office.

The term of office for a municipal council member appointed to a regional district board begins when the person has made an oath of office or solemn affirmation as a regional district director.

The term of office for regional district electoral area directors begins on the first Monday after November 1 following the general local election – or when the person has made their oath of office, whichever is later.

The inaugural municipal council meeting after the 2026 general local elections must be held by Tuesday, November 10.

The term of office for regional district electoral area directors elected in the 2026 general local elections begins on Monday, November 2 – or when the director has made their oath of office or solemn affirmation – whichever is later.

The campaign period for the 2026 general local elections begins on Saturday, September 19 and ends on Saturday, October 17.

Campaign financing rules under the Local Elections Campaign Financing Act were established to create accountability and transparency around campaign financing.

Campaign Period Expense Limits

All candidates have expense limits that apply during the campaign period. Expense limits are determined using a consistent formula for all candidates and are generally based on the population of the election area where the elections are being held.

Campaign Contribution Limits

Individuals who wish to contribute to a local elections candidate or elector organization are legally obligated to follow the rules outlined in the Local Elections Campaign Financing Act.

Refer to Elections BC's Guide to Local Elections Campaign Financing in B.C. for Candidates and their Financial Agents and Guide to Local Elections Campaign Financing in B.C. for Elector Organizations and their Financial Agents for detailed information regarding campaign financing rules.

Elections BC's Authority

Elections BC administers, investigates and enforces campaign financing, third party sponsor and election advertising rules under the Local Elections Campaign Financing Act.

Elections BC is responsible for reviewing candidate, elector organization and third party sponsor campaign financing disclosure statements to ensure compliance with the Local Elections Campaign Financing Act. Elections BC also publishes campaign contribution data and the campaign financing disclosure statements and the lists of disqualified candidates and third party sponsors online.

Elections BC has the authority to conduct audits and investigations related to non-compliance with campaign financing, election advertising and third party sponsor provisions – it can also delegate certain powers (e.g., removing non-compliant advertising) to other individuals, such as Chief Election Officers to act on its behalf. Elections BC works with Chief Election Officers to determine the most effective approach to dealing with non-compliant election advertising.

Elections BC also has the authority to impose administrative monetary penalties on candidates, elector organizations (and their authorized principal officials) and third party sponsors for failing to comply with the Local Elections Campaign Financing Act.

See Appendix A for information about local election partner roles and responsibilities.

See Appendix C for questions and answers about Elections BC's role and responsibilities.

- will be unable to vote on general voting day for reasons of conscience;
- will not be able to attend a voting place on general voting day for reasons beyond the elector's control;

Local election officers

Local election officers are appointed by local governments to administer local elections in their jurisdiction. They are responsible for:

- receiving nomination and endorsement documents,
- declaring candidates,
- administering voting opportunities,
- counting votes, and
- reporting election results.

Elections BC

Elections BC is a non-partisan, independent Office of the Legislature.

In local elections, Elections BC is responsible for administering campaign financing and election advertising rules under the Local Elections Campaign Financing Act (LECFA).

Elections BC does not administer voting, counting or results reporting at the local level, including by-elections and non-election assent voting events (also referred to as referenda) held by local election authorities outside of the general local elections cycle.

Elections BC's responsibilities under LECFA include:

- accepting, reviewing and publishing disclosure statements, annual financial reports and supplementary reports
- assisting participants to understand the rules and requirements under LECFA
- registering local advertising sponsors and elector organizations
- undertaking investigations and audits

CAMPAIGN FINANCING

The Local Elections Campaign Financing Act (LECFA) has rules for candidates, elector organizations and third party sponsors. This includes disclosure and reporting requirements for campaign financing and election advertising.

Campaign financing periods

Election Period	Pre-campaign Period	Campaign Period	Filing Period	Assessment Period
→	→	→	→	→
Start of Election Period	Start of Pre-campaign Period	Start of the Campaign Period	Filing Deadline	Assessment Period
January 1 for general local elections, or the date the seat becomes vacant for by-elections Expenses used in this period must be reported on the campaign financing disclosure statement.	89 days before General Voting Day Election advertising transmitted to the public must include an authorization statement. Expenses used in this period must be reported on the campaign financing disclosure statement.	28 days before General Voting Day Definition of election advertising is expanded to include issue based advertising, and limits apply to the value of election expenses used.	90 days after General Voting Day Campaign financing disclosure statements must be filed with Elections BC.	Elections BC conducts compliance reviews and audits of financial reports, and if non-compliance is identified, the file is forwarded for investigation and possible enforcement.

Election Period

For General Local Elections, the election period begins at the start of the calendar year in which the general local elections will be held.
For local by-elections, the election period starts the day the seat became vacant.

At the beginning of the calendar year, annual campaign contribution limits are calculated and posted on the Elections BC website.

Pre-campaign period begins (general elections only)

89 days before General Voting Day and ends at the start of the campaigning period. By-elections do not have a pre-campaign period.
Election advertising must contain authorization statements from this date.

Candidate Nomination Applications

Local jurisdictions oversee the nominations process. Prospective candidates should reach out to their local chief election officer to learn more about nomination applications.

Nomination period begins

46 days before General Voting Day.

Before the end of nominations

As soon as practicable after an elector organization endorses a candidate, the candidate must provide the financial agent for the elector organization the details of any contributions accepted.

Nomination period ends

36 days before General Voting Day.

Before the campaign period begins

Endorsed candidates MUST enter into a campaign financing arrangement with their elector organization. The candidate, their financial agent and the elector organization's financial agent must all sign and date the campaign financing arrangement. Once completed, the arrangement must be sent to Elections BC.

Campaign period begins

28 days before General Voting Day and ends on General Voting Day.
Election expense limits apply to expenses used in this period.

GENERAL VOTING DAY

Filing deadline for election financing disclosure statements

90 days after General Voting Day.
All candidates and elector organizations are required to file even if they had no or financial transactions.

As soon as possible after General Voting Day

Financial agents should have all documents and financial records ready to prepare the required election financing disclosure statement.

Late filing deadline for election financing disclosure statements

120 days after General Voting Day.
Candidates and elector organizations who did not file at the filing deadline may file at the late filing deadline on payment of a late filing penalty of $500.

All reports are received

Elections BC begins conducting compliance reviews and audits of disclosure statements submitted to our office.
Candidates, elector organizations and financial agents should be prepared for communications with our office. Following a review, disclosure statements may be referred to our Investigations department for consideration of penalties.

Once the disclosure requirements are fulfilled, the candidate must keep all financial records in BC for 5 years.

FINANCIAL AGENTS

The financial agent is legally responsible for administering the candidate's campaign finances in accordance with LECFA. It is the financial agent's responsibility to know, understand and follow the rules under LECFA to avoid penalties such as disqualifications, administrative monetary penalties, or offences.

A candidate may either act as their own financial agent or appoint another person to this position. If a candidate chooses to act as their own financial agent, all financial agent responsibilities and requirements are theirs.

A candidate can only have one financial agent at a time. However, a financial agent can be the financial agent for more than one candidate or elector organization.

The financial agent must keep records and supporting documentation for all election financing activities, income and expenses. The financial agent is also responsible for ensuring disclosure statements are submitted in accordance with LECFA. Elections BC may request this documentation during the review process.

[s. 17, 22]

Appointment requirements

If a candidate is not acting as their own financial agent, appointments must be made in writing.

If the appointment or changes are made:

- before the voting results are declared, it must be sent to the local election officer.
- after the results are declared, it must be sent to Elections BC.

Appointment information includes:

- the full name of the financial agent
- the effective date of appointment
- contact information
- address for service
- signatures of the candidate and financial agent

[s. 17]

Responsibilities of financial agents

A financial agent is responsible for ensuring compliance with the rules and requirements of LECFA. It is critical that financial agents understand campaign financing rules. To support financial agents, Elections BC provides education and advice about campaign financing and disclosure statements.

Failure to comply with LECFA can result in a penalty or offence. In some cases, the financial agent may be responsible for paying the administrative monetary penalty, and in those cases, the financial agent's name will be published in information related to the contravention. We encourage all financial agents to engage with Elections BC's educational materials.

Financial agents are responsible for:

- Keeping complete and accurate campaign financing records of all transfers, campaign contributions, election expenses, and other financial transactions.
- Opening a separate campaign account for each campaign to which they are appointed.
 - Failure to open a designated campaign account is an offence under LECFA and can result in penalties.
- Ensuring campaign contributions are only received from eligible individuals and documenting the eligibility of the contributors. Contributions from the candidate are subject to the same rules, recording and reporting requirements as any other contributions.
- Ensuring campaign contributions from eligible individuals do not exceed the contribution limit.
 - Contribution limits can be found on our website: elections.bc.ca/local-contributions
- Ensuring all transactions of money are made through the campaign account(s), including contributions from the candidate to their own campaign.
- Ensuring election advertising contains the required sponsorship information.
- Determining the market value of in-kind contributions and expenses, including from the candidate.
- Accepting and depositing permitted campaign contributions into a correct designated campaign account.
- Incurring, paying, recording and disclosing election expenses.
- Pre-approving all election expenses incurred by others, including the candidate.

- Making and receiving transfers of money between an endorsed candidate's own campaign account and their elector organization.
- Making and receiving in-kind transfers between an endorsed candidate and their elector organization.
- Filing a campaign financing disclosure statement for each campaign the financial agent is appointed for.
- Responding to questions from Elections BC after filing a disclosure statement and filing supplementary reports when required.
- Ensuring all required financial records are given to the candidate after the disclosure requirements are met. Records must be kept by the candidate in BC for 5 years after General Voting Day.

Financial agents may authorize another individual in writing to accept campaign contributions or to pay election expenses if they choose. The authorization must be in writing and the authorization kept as a part of the records.

Unless a financial agent provides a personal guarantee, they are not liable for debts or other liabilities of a local candidate or their campaign.

Financial agents may also have other roles, such as campaign manager for a candidate or a responsible principal official for an elector organization.

Elections BC must be notified as soon as possible of changes to the financial agent or their contact information.

CAMPAIGN ACCOUNTS

A campaign account is an account in a savings institution such as a bank, credit union or trust company used exclusively for the election campaign. Candidates must have a campaign account if they intend to incur any election expenses. Even if a candidate does not plan to accept campaign contributions from other individuals and will be self-funding their campaign from their own money, they must still have a designated campaign account. The only time a campaign does not have to open a campaign account is if they have no monetary transaction of any sort.

All monetary transactions (e.g. contributions, transfers and expenses) must go through the dedicated campaign account. Financial agents are encouraged to open campaign accounts as early as possible. If a financial agent has difficulty opening a campaign account, there is a letter on the Elections BC website that can be printed and given to the savings institution.

A campaign account is only valid for the election it was opened in. For example, an account for a general election must not be used for a by-election.

Similarly, if a candidate is running in multiple jurisdictions, they must have a separate campaign account for each campaign. For example, if a candidate is running in both a municipal election and a school board election, they must open two separate accounts. Failure to open a dedicated campaign account for each campaign is an offence.

Candidates cannot share an account and an endorsed candidate must have a separate account from their elector organization.

Each campaign account must be in the name of the election campaign. Examples of candidate campaign account names include:

“Alex Smith 2026 Vancouver General Local Election Campaign Account”

“Victoria By-Election Campaign Account of Alex Smith”

Campaign accounts must remain open until all financial transactions have been completed, including the disbursement of surplus funds.

Credit Card Purchases

The financial agent or those appointed in writing by the financial agent, may approve the use of a credit card for a purchase. However, receipts from the credit card purchase must be kept and submitted to the campaign for reimbursement from the campaign account.

Credit card purchases which are not reimbursed become a contribution from the individual and count towards the contribution limit.

[s. 18]

VOLUNTEERS

A volunteer is an individual who willingly performs free services for an election campaign. A candidate's campaign may have paid workers and volunteers. Volunteers:

- receive no compensation (directly or indirectly) for their services
- cannot be paid by their employer for working as a volunteer
- can use their vacation time to volunteer
- must be authorized in writing by the financial agent to accept campaign contributions or pay for election expenses
- must not be self-employed and providing services they normally charge for

When volunteering does and does not count as a contribution

A volunteer's services, or the use of their own property for the campaign do not count as a campaign contribution or election expense. These services do not need to be valued.

Example

A volunteer, Miranda, uses their own car to deliver lawn signs and brochures and is not repaid for these expenses from the campaign account. Since the volunteer is using their own property in relation to their volunteer services, the value of using the car and gas is neither a campaign contribution nor an election expense.

If someone is self-employed and provides services for free that they would normally charge for, it is not volunteering. That individual is making a campaign contribution, and the value of their services is an election expense. Financial agents must therefore value, record and disclose that contribution and expense. If the value of the services is more than the contribution limit, the balance must be paid for from the campaign account.

Example

Martin is a self-employed communications professional. A candidate wants to prepare for an interview and asks Martin to help as a favour. For a paying client, Martin would normally charge $150 for three hours of work, but Martin provides the service for free. Martin has made a campaign contribution of $150, and the candidate has incurred an election expense of $150. Both the contribution and the expense must be recorded and disclosed by the financial agent.

[s. 13, 14, Schedule s. 1]

CAMPAIGN CONTRIBUTIONS

A campaign contribution is the value of any money, property or services provided without compensation to a candidate for campaign use. A campaign contribution can be made at any time including after the election, provided that the contribution is related to that election campaign.

A campaign contribution can be a donation of money or goods, services, advance, deposit or discount. Campaign contributions of money can be made by cash, cheque, credit card or electronic funds transfer.

If a candidate gives money to their own campaign, it is a campaign contribution and must be recorded and disclosed in the same way as all other campaign contributions. Campaign contributions made by the candidate are subject to contribution limits.

[s.13-13.02]

Who can make campaign contributions

Campaign contributions can only be made by eligible individuals. It is an offence to make or accept contributions from ineligible contributors.

An eligible individual is:

- a resident of British Columbia, and
- a Canadian citizen or a permanent resident.

Contributions cannot be made by organizations.

Financial agents are responsible for confirming and documenting the eligibility of contributors and maintaining supporting documents with the financial records.

[Schedule s. 1]

Making and accepting campaign contributions

When accepting a campaign contribution, the financial agent or authorized individual, must record:

- the value,
- the date the contribution was made, and
- the required contributor information.

Contributions with insufficient information recorded may become prohibited contributions.

The following are rules for making and accepting campaign contributions:

- Campaign contributions must be made to the financial agent or an individual authorized in writing by the financial agent. Individuals who are not authorized in writing by the financial agent must not accept contributions.

Example

A candidate has a large campaign team and is running multiple campaign events on the same day. The financial agent is running the first event, and the candidate asks a campaign volunteer to run the second event. At the second event, several people want to contribute to the campaign and the campaign volunteer accepts the contributions, collecting the necessary contact information, and passes it on to the financial agent later that day. Since the campaign volunteer was not authorized in writing by the financial agent to accept contributions, these contributions are prohibited and need to be returned to the contributors.

- Only eligible individuals may make campaign contributions. Financial agents and authorized individuals may only accept contributions from eligible individuals.
- Contributions from corporate accounts, preferential discounts from a company, or contributions from out of province are prohibited. Making or accepting ineligible contributions is an offence and monetary penalties may apply.
- The financial agent must confirm contributor eligibility. If contributions are accepted online through a website, there should be a declaration that the contributor must complete confirming they are an eligible individual.
- Contribution dates are based on when the contribution was accepted, not when it was deposited.
- Contributors must provide information so that financial agents can meet their legal disclosure requirements. The financial agent must keep records of these details even if the contribution was less than $100 and those details may not need to be reported.

- Financial agents and authorized individuals must ensure that contributions received from eligible individuals do not exceed the contribution limit.
- Campaign contributions of money must be deposited into the relevant campaign's account. If a contributor wants to contribute to more than one campaign, they must make those contributions separately. A contribution must be deposited into the corresponding campaign account.
- Donated (in-kind) property or services must be assigned a market value, recorded and disclosed in the same way as contributions of money. The value of donated property and services counts towards the individual's contribution limit.
- If property or services are provided by an eligible individual to the candidate at less than market value, the eligible individual is making a campaign contribution. The campaign contribution is the difference between the price paid and the market value.
- The value of a candidate's own property used in their own campaign is not a campaign contribution.
- Crowdfunding, or crowdsourcing, through the internet for campaign contributions is permitted. The crowdfunding system must require the contributor to provide the value, the date the contribution was made and the required contributor information, including their residential address, and proof of their eligibility, so the financial agent can record it.
- Anonymous contributions cannot be collected over the internet.

[s. 16, 20, 27, 29]

Contribution rules

It is important to know which campaign contributions are acceptable, which are prohibited, and which funds, property or services are not contributions. All contributions are subject to contributor eligibility requirements and the annual contribution limit.

Acceptable contributions	Prohibited	Not contributions
- money given to a financial agent or an individual they have authorized - non-monetary property and services provided to the campaign - money given by a candidate to their own campaign within their allowable limit - anonymous contributions of $50 or less - a person purchasing goods or services from the candidate for more than market value	- contributions made by organizations and ineligible individuals - contributions that exceed the contribution limit - giving a contribution to someone other than the financial agent or someone they have authorized - making or accepting a campaign contribution, other than a permitted anonymous contribution, without providing or recording the required contributor information, including how the individual meets the eligibility requirements - making or accepting indirect campaign contributions - making or accepting an anonymous campaign contribution of more than $50 - making or accepting a loan from an eligible individual that is over their contribution limit when combined with their contributions - not repaying a loan or bill from an organization and the amount becoming a prohibited contribution	- services provided by a volunteer including the use of their own property in that role - transfers of money, property, or services between an elector organization and its endorsed candidates - non-monetary property or services owned by a candidate and provided for use in their own campaign - candidate's surplus campaign funds from the last election returned by the jurisdiction - free transmission of election advertising if offered equitably to all candidates - publishing or broadcasting news, editorials, interviews, columns, letters, debates, speeches or commentaries for free in a periodical, radio or television program - publications intended to be sold whether or not there was an election

Campaign contribution limits

All campaign contributions are subject to annual contributions limits. This limit sets the maximum amount eligible individuals may contribute to each campaign during a calendar year. The combined total of any monetary contribution, loans, or services made by an eligible individual to a candidate cannot exceed the contribution limit in a calendar year.

Purchases by candidates and other self-funding activities which are not reimbursed through the campaign account, are contributions and are counted toward the candidate's contribution limit.

If a contributor has exceeded the contribution limit, the excess amount is a prohibited contribution. There are significant monetary penalties for exceeding a contribution limit. It is also an offence to fail to return or remit the funds in the time specified.

Campaign contribution limits are adjusted either by regulation or by changes to the consumer price index (CPI). Adjusted amounts are published on the Elections BC website and in the B.C. Gazette.

Contribution limits for unendorsed and endorsed candidates

- For unendorsed candidates (candidates who are not endorsed by an elector organization) contribution rules change depending on whether it is or is not an election year.
 - In an election year, an unendorsed candidate can contribute up to double the annual campaign contribution limit for their own campaign.
 - In a non-election year, an unendorsed candidate can contribute up to the contribution limit.
- For candidates endorsed by an elector organization, the limit applies to the elector organization and all of its endorsed candidates in a jurisdiction as a whole. An eligible individual may not contribute more than the annual limit, in total, to the elector organization and its endorsed candidates for each calendar year in each jurisdiction.
- If the eligible individual contributed the full contribution limit to an endorsed candidate's campaign, they would be unable to contribute to the electoral organization. However, the eligible individual could contribute 50% of the contribution limit to the endorsed candidate's campaign and 50% of the contribution limit to the elector organization.

As soon as practicable after an elector organization endorses a candidate in an election, the financial agent for the candidate must provide to the financial agent for the elector organization all campaign contribution information. This is done to ensure contribution limits are maintained.

[s. 30.04-30.05, 35, Regulation s. 70]

How to determine the value of the contribution

The value of a campaign contribution is the amount provided by the contributor, including any fees collected by an online payment system. If an individual contributes the maximum annual contribution amount online, and the payment system charges the contributor an extra $2, the $2 is now a prohibited contribution provided in excess of the annual limit.

Financial agents must also determine and report the value of in-kind contributions, such as goods and services. In-kind contributions must be reported at market value. Market value is the lowest price charged for an equivalent amount of property or services in the market area at the time.

As an example of valuing donated items at market value, if signs are donated to the campaign, the financial agent will:

- use the receipt if the signs are new, or
- get a quote from a vendor for the same quantity and quality of the signs given if the signs are old.

This quote, or the receipted value, will be saved for the financial records and the value used to determine the value of the contribution and also the value reported as an expense.

Note: If the campaign is reusing signs purchased by the candidate during a previous election, the market value will need to be determined as in the example above. The value will be used to report the expense only. There is no contribution in this case as the property already belonged to the candidate.

Foreign currency and cryptocurrency contributions must be valued at the market rate on the date of the contribution and are subject to the same contribution rules as other contributions.

[s. 16, 20, 27, 29]

Anonymous contributions

Anonymous contributions of $50 or less are allowed. However, an eligible individual can only give a total of $50 in anonymous contributions to a campaign. The financial agent must record the value and date of the contribution and how it was received.

An example of an acceptable time to receive anonymous contributions is at a pass-the-hat activity at a fundraiser.

For example, at a fundraising function the financial agent asks Michael, a volunteer for the campaign, to monitor a donation jar at the entrance. As attendees arrive, Michael observes that eight people make anonymous contributions totaling $112, and no one donates more than $50.

Anonymous contributions must be truly anonymous. This means that the financial agent or candidate does not know who made the contribution. A contributor cannot ask for a contribution to be anonymous. Anonymous contributions cannot be collected by crowdfunding or crowdsourcing over the internet.

[s. 26, 29]

Capital assets

Capital assets may include buildings, computers, office furniture and equipment. When capital assets are donated by eligible individuals, the contribution is the market value of using the property.

For example, Miriam, an eligible individual, provides office furniture to Anne, a candidate, to use in their campaign office for one month. The furniture is normally rented for $500 per month. Miriam is making a campaign contribution as an eligible individual to Anne of $500, the market value of renting the furniture for one month.

[s. 16]

Required contributor information and other recording requirements for campaign contributions

Under LECFA, financial agents must keep accurate and detailed records of all financial transactions. Detailed records are important for election transparency, and they make it easier to complete your campaign financing disclosure statement.

Financial agents must record the following for each campaign contribution:

- the full name and residential address of the contributor (and mailing address, if it is different),
- the value of the contribution,
- the date the contribution was made, and
- the contributor's eligibility.

Note: A residential address is the eligible individual's home address. Mailing addresses such as a PO Box, work address or commercial address do not meet the recording requirements. Contributor addresses will be obscured prior to publication of the report.

There are some circumstances where a financial agent must decline the contribution. A contribution must come from an eligible individual. If a contribution appears to come from an ineligible individual, the financial agent must decline it.

If the contribution appears to come from multiple eligible individuals, the financial agent must decline the group contribution and collect one from each individual wishing to contribute. Indirect contributions are prohibited.

Example

A candidate is campaigning door-to-door and a contributor wishes to write a cheque to contribute up to the contribution limit on behalf of each of their three family members, who all live there but are not presently at home. The contributor is not allowed to make contributions on behalf of other individuals and then be reimbursed by those individuals later, as that is an indirect contribution and prohibited.

[s. 29]

Contributions of $100 or more

Eligible individuals who make campaign contributions of $100 or more to the same campaigns are significant contributors, and will be reported with full details of each contribution in the disclosure report. The contributions could be either a single donation of $100 or more, or multiple donations that total $100 or more. This includes in-kind contributions.

Example

If a contributor gives $50 in total contributions to a campaign, their name and contribution details are not reported in the disclosure statement, even though these details must be collected in the financial records for the campaign.

If a contributor gives $50 one month and then another $50 a few months later, the contributor's information for both contributions must be reported on the $100 and over contributions form.

Information about contributors who give a total of $100 or more must be disclosed in the candidate's disclosure statement. This includes:

- full name and residential address of contributor,

- value of contribution, and
- date of contribution.

Elections BC will obscure contributor addresses before publishing disclosure statements.

[s. 29, 49]

Prohibited contributions

It is an offence to make or knowingly accept a prohibited contribution and monetary penalties may apply.

If the financial agent becomes aware that a contribution is prohibited, they must return the contribution to the contributor, or an amount equal to its value, within 30 days of becoming aware of the prohibited contribution. Additional monetary penalties may apply if the funds are not returned within 30 days. The return must be from the corresponding campaign account.

If a prohibited contribution cannot be returned, such as an anonymous contribution over $50, the financial agent must remit it to Elections BC as soon as practicable. Remitted funds can now be paid using the Pay BC Application at (<https://pay.gov.bc.ca>), or by mailing certified cheque or money order.

Examples of prohibited contributions

- Organizations cannot contribute or offer preferential discounts.

Example

A financial agent purchases campaign signs from a local sign shop. The sign shop wants to support the candidate's campaign and gives the candidate a preferential 20% discount. The 20% discount is not available to any other purchaser and would be considered a contribution. As businesses are not eligible contributors, it would be prohibited.

- Contributions over $50 that are anonymous are prohibited.

Example

A financial agent receives an anonymous contribution of $75 in an envelope under the door of the campaign office. The full amount is a prohibited contribution and must be remitted to Elections BC.

- Contributions over the annual contribution limit are prohibited.

Example

Carrie, an eligible individual, has already contributed the maximum annual amount during the calendar year and then makes another contribution of $300. This $300 over the contribution limit is prohibited and must not be accepted. If accepted in error, the $300 must be returned to Carrie.

- Contributions over the limit may also include candidates or campaigns which overspend.

Example

If a candidate spends $8,000 during a campaign but only receives $3,000 in contributions, the remaining $5,000 in expenses they pay themselves. The $5,000 the candidate spent of their own money would be a campaign contribution, and the amount over the contribution limit is a prohibited contribution.

Monetary penalties may be administered for financial agents that accept or fail to return prohibited contributions. These penalties may also be applied to individuals and organizations that make prohibited contributions.

Indirect contributions

Indirect campaign contributions are not allowed. This means that individuals may not give money, property or services to another person to make a campaign contribution. This applies to members of the same family.

Example

After a fundraising function, a group of three supporters wish to make campaign contributions, but only one person brought their chequebook. That supporter writes one cheque for $3,000 and writes that it is on behalf of all three of them in the memo line, and the other supporters agree to pay them back. This is a prohibited contribution because the other supporters did not use their own funds for the contribution. Indirect contributions are prohibited.

Public Safety Canada

Ensuring that contributions come from eligible individuals is an important measure to help prevent foreign interference in local elections. If you become aware of individuals who may be suspicious actors, or of any incidents that could pose concerns related to national security, you may contact Public Safety Canada for guidance on reporting potential foreign interference. More information is available at: <https://www.publicsafety.gc.ca/cnt/ntnl-scrtr/frgn-ntfrnc/hr-en.aspx>.

Fundraising functions

A fundraising function includes a social function held by, or on behalf of, a candidate for the purpose of obtaining funds.

Tickets sold for a fundraiser may only be purchased by eligible individuals and they cannot be reimbursed for the purchase of tickets. The purchase of tickets by an eligible individual may or may not be a campaign contribution.

- If an eligible individual purchases more than $50 worth of tickets, it is a campaign contribution.
- If an eligible individual purchases $50 or less worth of tickets, it is not a campaign contribution.

For example, if one person purchases five tickets at $20 dollars each, that individual has made a contribution because the total price of the tickets is $100. If the same individual only purchased two tickets for a total of $40, then it would not be a contribution.

All money received at a fundraising function must be deposited into the campaign account and disclosed accordingly. Financial agents are not permitted to use cash received at the function to pay for expenses. They must deposit all income from the function into the corresponding campaign account(s) and pay for costs of the function from the campaign account(s) separately.

For example, if a beer and burger fundraiser is held at a pub which will receive half the proceeds of the ticket sales, the pub may not collect the money and then give the elector organization their share of the profit.

Goods or services donated to be sold to raise funds are contributions from the individual who donated them.

If the item sells for market value or below, the sales income is reported as fundraising income. If the donated item sells for over market value, the amount over market value is a contribution from the purchaser.

Example

If an eligible individual donates a laptop to auction at the fundraiser, and the market value for the laptop is $600, the individual has made a $600 contribution. If the laptop sells at the auction for $500, then the sale amount is not a contribution and is recorded as $500 in other fundraising income.

However, if the laptop sells for $750, the $600 market value, is other fundraising income, and the $150 over the market value is recorded as a contribution from the eligible individual who bought the laptop at the auction.

Any anonymous contributions received at the fundraiser, for example from a pass-the-hat, will also be reported as contributions on the fundraising function form. The financial agent must ensure they track how many people attend the event so they have a number of individuals to report on the disclosure statement.

Income generated from fundraisers must be deposited into the corresponding campaign account(s), and expenses must be paid from the same campaign account(s).

Loans and outstanding debts

Financial agents may receive loans from eligible individuals and savings institutions for campaign use. A loan which remains unpaid becomes a campaign contribution which may lead to a prohibited contribution.

A loan received from an eligible individual must be counted towards the contribution limit for that individual in the calendar year the loan was received.

Financial agents must record the following for each loan received.

- if the loan is received from an eligible individual:
 - the full name and residential address of the lender,
 - the date the loan was made,
 - the amount of the loan, and
 - due date of the loan.
- if the loan is received from a savings institution:
 - the name of the savings institution,
 - date the loan was made,

- amount of the loan,
- due date of the loan,
- interest rate of the loan, and
- the prime rate of interest at the time the loan is made.

Loans to campaigns from savings institutions cannot have a preferential interest rate and the interest rate cannot be less than prime at the time of the loan.

If a financial agent becomes aware that a loan has been accepted in contravention of LECFA, they must return the loan or pay the lender an amount equal to the loan within 30 days. There are monetary penalties for making or accepting prohibited loans.

Any loan or debt that remains unpaid for six months after it becomes due converts into a campaign contribution unless the creditor has started legal proceedings to recover it. Creditors keep their rights to collect the loan or debt past the six month period even if no action to collect is taken.

Prohibited contribution rules apply to loans or debts that become campaign contributions.

[s. 13, 13.02, 18, 22, 27.01-27.02, 30.05, 35, 68.15, 68.16]

Other income and transfers received

Other deposits that are not campaign contributions or permissible loans are recorded and reported as other income.

All money received by the campaign must be deposited into the campaign account. The financial agent must record the amount, date and purpose of each deposit that goes into the campaign account.

Such deposits include:

- interest earned on the account,
- dividends of shares of a credit union,
- money earned through product sales,
- fundraising income that is not a campaign contribution,
- surplus campaign funds from a previous election returned by the jurisdiction, and
- transfers of money or goods and services between an endorsed candidate and their elector organization. Transfers can be made at any time, including after General Voting Day

If a candidate sought endorsement from an elector organization but was not endorsed, the recording requirements still apply.

For transfers of money between an endorsed candidate and an elector organization, report:

- the date and dollar amount of the transfer
- the name of the elector organization that made or received the transfer

For in-kind transfers between an endorsed candidate and an elector organization, report:

- the date of the transfer
- the market value and a description of the transferred property or services
- the name of the elector organization that made or received the transfer

For example, if an elector organization provides election signs to its endorsed candidate, then the elector organization will report the market value of the signs as a transfer given, and the endorsed candidate will report the same amount as a transfer received.

Because both the giver and receiver are required to report the transfer, the transaction information should be consistently reported by both the endorsed candidate and their elector organization. The financial agent should ensure the value and date of the each transfer is recorded and reported consistently.

EXPENSES AND EXPENSE LIMITS

Election expenses

An election expense is the value of property or services used in an election campaign by or on behalf of a candidate or elector organization to promote or oppose, directly or indirectly, the election of a candidate or elector organization. This applies whether the item or service was used in the election period, the campaign period, or both.

Goods produced by a candidate from their own property are not campaign expenses if the materials were already owned prior to their decision to run for office.

All election expenses must:

- be approved by the financial agent before they are incurred,
- be paid for by the financial agent or an individual authorized in writing by the financial agent, and
- be paid or reimbursed from the campaign account, including if a candidate pays for an expense from their personal funds. Receipts must be submitted to the financial agent for reimbursement.

Financial agents must maintain accurate and detailed records of all expenses related to the campaign. The records must be complete and accurate to meet the disclosure requirements in LECFA. These records can be requested by Elections BC at any time.

Details for record keeping include:

- total value and description of each election expense
- when each election expense was used (such as election period, campaign period or both)
- total value and description of each payment made from the campaign account, including fundraising expenses, intended election expenses, thank-you parties, etc.

Valuing election expenses

The value of an election expense is determined using the price paid or market value.

The following rules apply for determining the value of expenses:

- the price paid for the property or services, including any production costs, or
- if no price is paid or if the price paid is lower than the market value, the market value of the property or services. Market value is the lowest price charged for an equivalent amount of property or services in the market area at the time.

Valuing reused materials

- It is common for candidates to reuse signs from previous elections. Although no money has been spent from the current campaign, the signs must be valued and reported as an election expense.
- The market value is the cost of buying new materials of the same quality and quantity. A quote should be obtained to determine the current price of the goods.
- If the reused materials are used during the campaign period, the full value must be reported on the disclosure statement as a campaign period election expense subject to limits.
- If there are additional costs to update old or re-used campaign goods, such as adding the sponsorship information, those costs are included in the value of the election expense.

For example, if a campaign reuses 100 signs owned by the candidate from a previous election, the financial agent should get a quote from a sign maker for the price to create 100 new signs of the same size and materials and use this to value the expense for the reused signs. If the quote says that $350 is the cost to have new signs printed of the same quality and amount, then $350 will be reported as an expense subject to the limit.

Note: There is no amount paid on reused items owned by the candidate, this will create a known source of variance in the reporting between total income and expenses of the campaign.

Election period and campaign period expenses

Candidates are subject to expense limits. Exceeding the campaign expense limit carries serious penalties. If an elected candidate exceeds their expense limit, they will lose their seat.

It is important to note that election expenses must be reported for when they are used. Candidates and elector organizations cannot defer payment of expenses to avoid campaign expense limits.

When calculating expenses, financial agents must report the full value of the expense. This includes material used in production of an item. Incorrect calculations of expenses can result in campaigns exceeding their limits, which is an offence.

Election period expenses:

- For general local elections, the election period begins on January 1st and ends on the 29th day before General Voting Day.
- For a by-election, the election period begins on the day the office becomes vacant and ends on the 29th day before General Voting Day.
- Election expenses used in the election period are election period expenses.

Campaign period expenses:

- The campaign period begins on the 28th day before General Voting Day and ends at the close of voting on General Voting Day.
- Election expenses used in the campaign period are campaign period expenses.

Some expenses are divisible, and can be prorated based on when they are used.

For example, brochures can be apportioned between the election period and the campaign period based on when they were distributed.

Example

If the financial agent buys 200 brochures, and 100 are mailed out in the election period, the value of those 100 brochures are reported in the election period and not subject to the expenses limit. If the remaining 100 are mailed out in the campaign period, the value of those 100 will be campaign period election expenses and subject to the expenses limit.

If only a portion of property or services is used by the campaign, only that portion is an election expense. The unused portion is an intended election expense and is recorded as an other expense.

Example

If a financial agent buys 200 brochures and distributes 100, then half the cost will be reported as an election expense, and the other half as an intended election expense as other expenses.

Campaigns are permitted to incur expenses after the close of voting such as celebration parties and thank-you cards.

These post campaign period expenses are not subject to expense limits but must be recorded and reported in the disclosure statement as other expenses.

[s.10, 14, 15, 22, 30]

Examples of Expenses

The list below is of examples only and does not include every type of campaign expense.

Election expenses	Election expenses that are not subject to the limit	Not election expenses
▪ campaign advertising (such as signs, brochures, newspaper ads, etc.) ▪ signs reused or repurposed from previous elections ▪ costs associated with transmitting election messages to the public (such as postage, website hosting, etc.) ▪ professional photographs, videographers, and any other costs associated with the production of advertising ▪ holding or attending campaign-related meetings, functions or events (such as costs associated with a campaign rally) ▪ paid research and opinion polling and campaigning (such as operating a phone bank) ▪ paid canvassing in person, by phone or over the internet ▪ campaign office costs ▪ bank fees	▪ sign, nomination or damage deposits if they are refunded ▪ candidate's personal expenses if paid or reimbursed from campaign account ▪ legal or accounting services used to comply with LECFA ▪ financial agent services ▪ interest on a permissible loan to a candidate's campaign for election period or campaign period expenses ▪ expenses that were intended to be used as election expenses but were not, for example leftover brochures that were not distributed	▪ services provided or goods produced by a candidate from their own property (such as making brochures with materials already owned) ▪ services provided or goods produced by a volunteer from their own property (such as canvassing, installing signs, running social media campaign from their own computer, etc.) ▪ free media coverage (such as news stories, interviews, current affairs program, etc.) ▪ producing, promoting or distributing a candidate's publication if it was planned to be sold whether or not there was an election

Expense limits

Election expense limits are the maximum amounts of campaign period expenses that a candidate may use in a campaign period.

Elections BC publishes and enforces expense limits but is not responsible for their calculation. The Ministry of Housing and Municipal Affairs, the Ministry of Education and Child Care and the Ministry of Indigenous Relations and Reconciliation calculate the campaign period expense limits for candidates.

All candidates are subject to these expense limits which are based on the office sought and the population of the election area.

Elections BC must publish the expense limits by May 31 in the year of general local elections.

For by-elections, the expense limits for the most recent general local elections apply.

If a candidate exceeds their expense limit:

- Monetary penalties will apply.
- They will lose their seat, if elected.
- They commit an offence.

To find the expense limit for your election area, visit elections.bc.ca/local-expense-limits.

[s. 14, 49, 63.01-63.04, 63.05, 63.06, Regulations s. 72-74]

Campaign financing arrangements

All candidates who are endorsed by an elector organization must have a campaign financing arrangement with their elector organization. Campaign financing arrangement forms can be found on the Local Forms | Elections BC page.

Elector organizations are not allowed to incur campaign period expenses unless the candidate shares their expense limit with the elector organization under a campaign financing arrangement.

A campaign financing arrangement is a written agreement between an elector organization and each endorsed candidate. The arrangement determines how much of the candidate's campaign period expense limit will be shared with their elector organization.

An endorsed candidate can make all, some or none of their expense limit available to their elector organization to spend on their campaign.

A campaign financing arrangement must be:

- filed with Elections BC directly,
- on the regulated form,
- completed before the start of the campaign period, and
- signed by the candidate, the candidate's financial agent (if applicable) and the financial agent of the elector organization.

The amounts listed for the candidate and the elector organization must equal the total expense limit if the expense limit is to be shared.

Amendments or terminations

Campaign financing arrangements may be amended or terminated. Amendments or terminations must be on Elections BC regulated forms.

- An amendment to the amounts of expense limits available to the elector organization must be made no later than General Voting Day.
- A termination of a campaign financing arrangement must be done before the start of the campaign period.

Important note: A candidate or elector organization must notify their local election officer of a termination of endorsement prior to the start of the campaign period to remove the endorsement from the ballot.

[s. 63.07-63.11, Regulation s. 75-79]

Shared election expenses

A shared election expense is when two or more candidates agree to share in an election expense.

Each candidate's campaign must pay for and report their portion of the shared election expense. If one campaign pays for the expense directly, they must be repaid by the other campaign(s) for their portion of the expense. Candidates are not allowed to incur or pay for expenses on behalf of another candidate, and must be repaid or reimbursed for any shared expenses.

If election advertising is co-sponsored by two or more candidates, the sponsorship information for each candidate's financial agent must be on the advertising.

Example

Two candidates decide to share signs that promote them both equally. The signs cost $500. Each candidate's financial agent must account for their share ($250). Each campaign may pay the vendor directly, or one candidate's financial agent may pay the vendor and other candidate's financial agent can pay their $250 to the financial agent who paid the vendor. All payments and deposits must be made using the candidates' campaign accounts.

Detailed disclosure of shared election expenses is required. In order to meet these requirements, financial agents for candidates who participated in a shared election expense must record the following:

- the total value of the shared expense
- the value of their candidate's portion
- the names of the other participating candidates

They must also record, as applicable:

- the amount paid to the supplier
- the amount of each reimbursement received from other participating candidates
- the amount of each reimbursement paid to other participating candidates

[s. 16, Schedule s. 1, s. 44, Regulation ss. 12-13, 13, 25-26]

ELECTION ADVERTISING

The definition of election advertising is broad and applies to advertising conducted by candidates, elector organizations and third party sponsors during the pre-campaign and campaign periods.

Election advertising may include any public communication that directly or indirectly promotes or opposes a candidate or an elector organization during the pre-campaign period or campaign period for a local election.

In the campaign period, election advertising also includes public communications that take a position on an issue associated with a candidate or elector organization.

Election advertising is only regulated during the pre-campaign period and campaign period. Advertising conducted outside of these periods is not subject to election advertising rules. However, advertising activities during the election period and prior to pre-campaign period are still advertising expenses of the campaign and must be recorded and disclosed.

Examples

Election advertising	Not election advertising
▪ television, radio, newspaper or magazine advertisements ▪ signs, billboards, posters, bumper stickers or branded clothing or objects ▪ newsletters, brochures, mailing inserts or other advertising sent to the public ▪ ads on the internet with a placement cost (such as pay-per-click ads, Facebook ads, promoted posts, banner ads, pop-up ads, etc.) ▪ phone calls made using an automated system (e.g., robocalls) ▪ paid canvassing in person, by telephone or over the internet to attempt to influence how voters vote	▪ personal or private communications ▪ free media coverage (such as a candidate debate on a local news channel, news stories, radio interviews, etc.) ▪ a communication by an individual or group sent directly to their members, employees or shareholders ▪ any free communication on the internet (such as Facebook, X, Instagram, Snapchat, YouTube, etc.) that also was free to produce ▪ free person-to-person phone calls and text messages ▪ websites or blogs that do not have hosting or production fees ▪ producing, promoting or distributing a publication if it was planned to be sold whether or not there was an election

Who is the sponsor of election advertising

Election advertising must be reported by the advertising sponsor. The sponsor of election advertising is the individual or organization that pays for the communication to be transmitted, unless the cost of transmission is provided as a contribution.

The advertising sponsor must report the value of election advertising which includes all property and services used in preparing and transmitting the advertising to the public (such as materials, transmission fees, design services, taxes, etc.).

For example, if it cost $500 to produce an advertisement and $150 to transmit or post the advertisement, then the total cost of the advertisement is $650.

Election advertising does not include:

- messages on the internet that do not, and would not normally, have a placement cost, including free social media posts, websites and videos. Examples of free messages that are not election advertising include personal Facebook, Instagram and Snapchat posts, tweets, YouTube videos and websites
- free personal or private communications (such as private letters, emails, in-person or telephone conversations, etc.)
- free media coverage (such as news stories, editorials, radio interviews, etc.)
- producing, promoting or distributing a publication if it was planned to be sold whether or not there was an election
- a communication by an individual or group sent directly to their members, employees or shareholders
- transmission by an individual, on a non-commercial basis, on the internet, or by telephone or text message, of their personal views

Note: The Canadian Radio-television and Telecommunication Commission (CRTC) also provides rules for unsolicited telecommunications made by political entities, including candidates and their campaigns. If your campaign is planning to contact the public through unsolicited communications, please ensure you familiarize yourself with the rules available at: <https://crtc.gc.ca/eng/phone/telemarketing/politi.htm>

It is prohibited for candidates and elector organizations to sponsor election advertising in conjunction with a third party sponsor. Furthermore a third party sponsor must not sponsor election advertising on behalf of a candidate or elector organization.

[s. 7, 9, 16, Regulation s. 10]

Determining the value of election advertising

The value of election advertising includes all property and services used in preparing and transmitting the advertising to the public (such as materials, transmission fees, design services and taxes).

The value of election advertising is an election expense. If used during the campaign period, the value is also a campaign period expense and subject to the expense limit.

Election advertising offered free of charge to all individuals and organizations has a market value of zero; however, the value of preparing the advertising is still an election expense.

For example if an advertisement cost $500 to create but was published on a free platform, then the total cost of the advertising is $500.

Advertising suppliers are prohibited from giving special discounts to preferred candidates.

Determining the sponsor of election advertising

The sponsor of election advertising is the individual or organization that is conducting the advertising.

The candidate is still the sponsor even if the advertising is paid for as a campaign contribution from an eligible individual and the advertising is conducted at the direction of the financial agent.

Note: A third party sponsor is an individual or organization that creates and pays for their own election advertising promoting or opposing a candidate or elector organization, or promoting or opposing an issue closely associated with a candidate or elector organization.

Sponsorship information on election advertising

Sponsorship information, also known as an authorization statement, is required on most election advertising during the pre-campaign and campaign periods.

Sponsorship information must include:

- the name of the financial agent,
- an indication that it was authorized by the identified financial agent, and
- a B.C. phone number, or B.C. mailing address or email address at which the financial agent can be contacted.

Although there are no size requirements for the sponsorship information, it must be clear and readable.

There are monetary penalties for failing to include sponsorship information. See page 50 for more information.

For example:

- Authorized by Jay Smith, j.smith@email.com
- Authorized by Rae Jones, 250-555-1234

Sponsorship information must be on the election advertising itself and must be in English or understandable to readers of English. If the advertising is in another language, the sponsorship information must also be in that language or understandable to readers of that language.

For example:

जॉन स्मिथ, वित्तीय एजेंट द्वारा अधिकृत 604-123-4567

For internet advertising that has or would normally have a placement cost, the sponsorship information does not need to be on the ad if there is a link that takes the viewer directly to the website, landing page or profile page that contains it.

If a person is paid to canvass voters, either in person, by telephone or over the internet, the canvasser must provide voters with the required sponsorship information.

One-sided election signs must have sponsorship information on the side that contains the advertising. It cannot be on the back of the sign.

If the election advertising is co-sponsored by two or more candidates, the sponsorship information for each candidate's financial agent must be on the advertising.

For example: Authorized by Jay Smith, j.smith@email.com and Rae Jones, 250-555-1234.

ADVERTISING RESTRICTIONS

Where and when election signs may be placed

Elections BC does not regulate where and when signs may be placed. Contact your local government for more information about election sign bylaws in your area.

The Ministry of Transportation and Transit regulates sign placement on provincial highways. Please refer to the Ministry's policy at www.Gov.bc.ca/electionsigns.

Important safety note: Placing election signs by digging or driving stakes into the ground can pose a safety hazard to sign installers and to underground infrastructure (such as gas lines and other utilities). Before placing election signs, you may wish to contact BC One Call at 1-800-474-6886 or see the website at www.bc1c.ca to determine if there are risks in your area. This service is free of charge and is not associated with Elections BC.

Campaigning restrictions on General Voting Day

Election advertising is not permitted within 100 metres of a voting place while voting is being conducted.

An individual or organization must not transmit election advertising to the public on General Voting Day except for:

- election advertising on the internet as long as the advertising was transmitted to the public before General Voting Day and was not changed before the close of voting.
 - For example, if advertising purchased on a monthly basis and General Voting Day is included in that purchase and cannot be removed, then the advertising will be permitted.
 - It is not permitted to schedule election advertising for General Voting Day, such as paid Facebook posts.
- advertising on the internet that is for the sole purpose of encouraging voters to vote,
- advertising by means of signs, posters or banners outside of the 100 metre restriction, and
- distributing pamphlets outside of the 100 metre restriction.

Permitted on General Voting Day	Not permitted on General Voting Day
▪ using free social media ▪ free person-to-person interactions, such as phone calls, emails, text messages, etc. ▪ election advertising on the internet as long as the advertising was not changed on General Voting Day or is solely to encourage voters to vote ▪ placing signs or distributing brochures outside of 100 metres of a voting place ▪ campaign meetings or rallies outside of 100 metres of a voting place	▪ scheduling paid ads on the internet including paid social media posts on Facebook, X, Instagram, etc. ▪ automated voice calls (robocalls) and automated text messages ▪ placing signs or distributing brochures within 100 metres of a voting place ▪ television, radio or newspaper ads ▪ campaign meetings or rallies within 100 metres of a voting place ▪ paid canvassing in person, by telephone or over the internet to attempt to influence how voters vote

Note: Under the Canadian Radio-television and Telecommunication Commission (CRTC) rules, unsolicited telecommunications made on behalf of political entities can only occur on General Voting Day between the hours of 10 a.m. and 6 p.m. (<https://crtc.gc.ca/eng/phone/telemarketing/politi.htm>)

Authority to remove election advertising

If election advertising does not include the required sponsorship information, or is conducted by an unregistered third party sponsor, Elections BC may require that the advertising be:

- corrected
- discontinued
- covered
- obscured
- removed
- destroyed

Certain types of election advertising do not require sponsorship information:

- clothing
- novelty items (such as buttons, badges, pins, stickers, bumper stickers, wristbands)
- small items of nominal value that are intended for personal use (such as pens, mugs, magnets, key chains, notepads, business cards)

SURPLUS CAMPAIGN FUNDS

Surplus campaign funds are the balance of money left in a campaign account after all financial transactions are completed. Financial agents must record the amount of surplus campaign funds remaining and how they deal with them.

If the candidate contributed money to their own campaign, the financial agent can repay the candidate up to the value of those contributions. After the candidate has been reimbursed, any remaining surplus campaign funds must be dealt with as follows:

- Under $500: The financial agent must pay the amount to the candidate or deal with those funds as directed by the candidate.
- $500 or more: The financial agent must pay the total amount of the surplus campaign funds (not just the amount over $500) to the jurisdiction where the candidate ran.

If a candidate who paid surplus funds to a jurisdiction seeks office in the same jurisdiction in the next general local election or an earlier by-election, the jurisdiction must pay the surplus campaign funds, and any accumulated interest, to the candidate's financial agent for use in the new election.

If the candidate does not run for office in the same jurisdiction in the next election, the funds become the jurisdiction's to be used at its discretion.

DISCLOSURE STATEMENTS

Financial agents are responsible for filing disclosure statements with Elections BC, even if the candidate withdrew, was acclaimed, or had few or no financial transactions. Candidates also have a responsibility to ensure that their financial agents file their disclosure statements.

Disclosure statements are commonly referred to as “campaign financing reports”. These are different than the statement of disclosure which would have been submitted with a candidate’s nomination documents.

A disclosure statement includes information on all campaign contributions, election expenses, transfers, surplus campaign funds and other transactions related to the campaign. A disclosure statement must be filed for every campaign.

All disclosure statements must be completed on Elections BC forms, which can be found on our Local Forms | Elections BC page.

Candidates who were endorsed by an elector organization must include the most recent copy of their campaign financing arrangement with their disclosure statement.

[s. 46, 49]

Submitting the report

The campaign financing disclosure statement must be received by Elections BC by 90 days after General Voting Day. If the deadline falls on a weekend or holiday, the filing deadline is moved to the next business day.

The cover page must be signed by the candidate and the appointed financial agent (if relevant) for the report to be accepted as filed. Forms can be found on our website at the Local Forms | Elections BC page.

Failure to file a campaign financing disclosure statement has significant penalties.

If a candidate fails to file a report, they will be disqualified from running for local office until after the next General Local Elections. If the candidate was elected, they will lose their seat and a by-election will need to be held.

If an elector organization fails to file an election report or supplementary report then their endorsed candidates will also be disqualified and those elected will lose their seats. The elector organization will also be deregistered.

An application to the Supreme Court for relief from disclosure requirements may be made.

It is an offence to fail to file a disclosure statement or supplementary report and a candidate or financial agent who fails to file a report is liable to a fine of up to $10,000 and/ or imprisonment for up to two years.

Names of late filers and non-filers will be published on our website at elections.bc.ca.

To ensure your report is received by Elections BC before the deadline, you may deliver it by:

- Secure Online Filing Application (SOFA) - (Preferred): Scanned reports or forms that are filled electronically can be directly uploaded to SOFA which is accessible through Elections BC Services. Please note that an account must be set up to use SOFA: <https://services.electionsbc.gov.bc.ca/Portal/>
- Email: Scanned reports may be sent to electoral.finance@elections.bc.ca.
- Fax: Toll-free to 1-866-466-0665.
- Mail: PO Box 9275 Stn Prov Govt, Victoria, BC V8W 9J6.
A postmark is not acceptable as proof of delivery by the deadline, so ensure reports are mailed well before the deadline.
- Courier: Suite 100 – 1112 Fort Street, Victoria, BC V8V 3K8
Ensure reports are sent early enough to be received by the deadline.
- Personal delivery:
 - Elections BC at Suite 100 - 1112 Fort Street, Victoria, BC V8V 3K8, Monday to Friday, 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. PST (closed weekends and statutory holidays)

Elections BC will confirm receipt of your report once it have been received. If there are any issues with your submission that prevent it from being accepted, Elections BC may contact you so you can resolve issues before the filing deadline.

[s. 47, 57, 64, 85]

Late filing

If an acceptable campaign financing disclosure statement is not received by the filing deadline, the name of the candidate will be published by Elections BC for failure to file a report by the legislated deadline and the local jurisdiction will be notified.

A report may be filed late provided it is received:

- within 30 days of the filing deadline, and
- is accompanied by a $500 late filing fee.

The late filing fee is payable by cash, money order or certified cheque to the Minister of Finance. Alternatively, you may pay the late filing fee online using PayBC. There are significant penalties if a financial report is not filed by the late filing deadline.

[s. 47]

Supplementary reports

If Elections BC advises a financial agent that a supplementary report is required, it must be submitted within 30 days of the notification. Elections BC must also inform the local jurisdiction of any supplementary reports required.

A supplementary report must also be filed if a financial agent becomes aware that information previously disclosed has changed or does not completely and accurately disclose the information required.

A supplementary report is a complete filing of all of the reporting forms. A supplementary report must:

- provide details about the addition, change or correction to the original disclosure statement
- include a description of the circumstances that led to filing the supplementary report
- be in a form approved by Elections BC

[s. 54]

Requirement for retaining records

Campaign financing records must be retained in British Columbia until five years after General Voting Day. Failure to keep the records for the legislated time frame is an offence. Elections BC can request these records at any time as a part of their review process.

These records must include:

- copies of the disclosure statements
- records of contributions and required contributor information

- deposit slips
- expense receipts
- cheque registers
- transaction slips
- all other financial records of the campaign

Financial agents must keep all campaign financing records and other material related to the disclosure statement until all disclosure requirements have been fulfilled. After the disclosure requirements are met, the candidate becomes responsible for retaining records and materials.

[s. 22, 86]

Public information

Campaign financing reports are made available on the Elections BC website after the filing deadline. They may also be viewed at the Elections BC office in Victoria.

Prior to publication, LECFA requires Elections BC to redact from the report any addresses or telephone numbers that have been disclosed for candidates and significant contributors.

This requirement does not apply to an address or telephone number provided by a financial agent. Since this information is included on the published campaign financing report, financial agents should be aware that this information is publicly visible.

Local jurisdictions must also provide public access to disclosure statements.

Copies of campaign financing reports may be obtained from either Elections BC or the local authorities for a fee.

[s. 58, 59]

PENALTIES, OFFENCES AND COURT ORDERS FOR RELIEF

Elections BC works closely with participants to help them understand and comply with the local elections campaign financing rules and regulations.

For more information on the investigations process and to see currently posted administrative monetary penalties, see: elections.bc.ca/events-services/investigations/.

Posted monetary penalties can be found here: elections.bc.ca/events-services/investigations/administrative-monetary-penalties/.

[s. 60]

Court orders for relief

Financial agents can apply to the Supreme Court for a court order for relief from disclosure requirements, expense limit penalties and administrative monetary penalties.

An application to the Supreme Court for relief from a financial penalty must be filed before the compliance deadline.

Candidates and financial agents applying for court relief may want to consult independent legal counsel about the court process.

For details and timelines on filing for a court order for relief, see sections 66-72 of the Local Elections Campaign Financing Act (LECFA).

LOCAL GOVERNMENT ELECTIONS IN BRITISH COLUMBIA 2026:

What Every Candidate Needs to Know

General local elections will be held on Saturday, October 17, 2026.

This brochure provides candidates with basic information about general local election rules and answers questions about running for local office in British Columbia.

WHAT'S NEW FOR 2026

There have been some notable changes since the 2022 general local elections:

- Candidates may submit their nomination documents to the Chief Election Officer in-person, by mail, or electronically, (e.g., by email or fax), so long as the documents are received by the end of the nomination period. Candidates are no longer required to deliver originals of nomination documents submitted by fax or email.

NEW

- Public notices and online publications of nomination documents will no longer include candidate personal information, such as personal telephone numbers and residential addresses. Electors will instead see the name of the jurisdiction in which the candidate is a resident (e.g., name of the municipality, electoral area, or treaty lands where the candidate resides) in public notices and online nomination documents.
- A candidate and the authorized principal official of an elector organization must work together to complete the endorsement section of the candidate's nomination documents in order for the candidate to be endorsed by the elector organization. Both parties must provide signed consent to the endorsement. Separate endorsement documents are no longer required (Elector Organizations must be registered with Elections BC prior to endorsing a candidate(s)).
- Members of the Legislative Assembly of British Columbia are disqualified from holding local elected office under the Eligibility to Hold Public Office Act. If a mayor, councillor, electoral area director or any other local elected official becomes a Member of the Legislative Assembly, that individual is considered to have resigned their local elected office.

NEWNEW

ROLE OF ELECTED OFFICIALS

What is the role of a local elected official?

Local elected officials are the stewards of their community's public assets and collectively responsible for making decisions.

In their role, elected officials are expected to learn about and comply with local government legislation and other Acts, as applicable, including conduct rules, privacy and employment laws and policies, and local government procedures.

Elected officials that develop positive trusted relationships with colleagues, local government staff, and the public, support councils and regional district boards to carry out their collective responsibilities. How elected officials conduct themselves in their role and in these relationships directly impacts successful community governance.

The roles and responsibilities of elected officials and local government staff are distinct and interdependent.

Local government staff provide the council/regional district board with information and professional advice to support informed decision-making, implement the collective decisions, policies, and direction of the council/regional district board, and communicate those decisions to the public and other orders of government.

Clarity about the distinct roles and responsibilities of elected officials and local government staff can help create a healthy working relationship during the term of elected office.

Refer to the Thinking About Running for Local Office? brochure for more information on the roles and responsibilities of locally elected officials.

GENERAL LOCAL ELECTIONS

What are general local elections?

Through general local elections, residents and non-resident property electors determine the individuals who will collectively make decisions and govern on their behalf following general voting day. Electors do this by voting – casting their ballots in favour of a candidate(s).

How often are general local elections held?

General local elections are held every four years on the third Saturday of October.

ELECTION ADMINISTRATION

Who oversees local elections?

Unlike provincial elections, local elections are not managed by one organization. Each local government is responsible for running its own local elections, including voting, counting, reporting results, and accepting candidate nominations.

Elections BC is responsible for administering the campaign financing and election advertising rules in the Local Elections Campaign Financing Act. This includes providing information about the rules, maintaining the register of elector organizations and advertising sponsors, receiving and publishing financial reports, assessing compliance through reviews and audits, and investigating non-compliance to determine appropriate enforcement.

CHIEF ELECTION OFFICER

The Chief Election Officer is an individual appointed by a municipal council or regional district board to conduct a general local election or a by-election. The Chief Election Officer is responsible for overseeing all local election administration activities, including: issuing statutory public notices; receiving nomination documents; declaring candidates; administering voting opportunities; preparing ballots; reviewing ballot accounts; and, determining and declaring official election results.

HOW TO GET STARTED

Am I eligible to run for office?

To be eligible to run for office you must:

- be 18 years of age or older on general voting day;
- be a Canadian citizen;
- have been a resident of British Columbia for at least six months immediately before filing nomination documents; and,
- not be disqualified under the Local Government Act, or any other enactment from voting in an election in B.C. or from being nominated for, being elected to or holding the office, or be otherwise disqualified by law.

EMPLOYEES AND VOLUNTEERS

There are additional requirements and eligibility considerations that people who work or volunteer for a local government must follow. For more information, please visit the B.C. government webpage about Employees and volunteers.

How do I get nominated?

You must be nominated by at least two eligible electors from the jurisdiction where you are seeking to be elected – some local governments may, by bylaw, require each candidate to have as many as 10 or 25 nominators. You may also be required to pay a refundable nomination deposit (up to a $100 maximum) as part of the nomination process. You can confirm specific nomination requirements with the Chief Election Officer in your community.

You must have become a B.C. resident by March 10, 2026, or, if the nomination period is extended, by March 13, 2026 in order to meet the B.C. residency requirement to run for local office. Refer to section 67 of the Local Government Act, for the rules for determining B.C. residency.

NOMINATORS

A nominator must be a qualified elector of the municipality or electoral area (or neighbourhood constituency, if applicable) where the candidate is running. Elector qualifications are listed in the Local Government Act and the Vancouver Charter.

Where can I find nomination forms?

Candidate nomination documents are available from your local government during regular business hours, generally, two to four weeks before the nomination period begins. Local government contact information is available online from CivicInfo BC at: www.civicinfo.bc.ca/directories

What are some key nomination requirements?

Nomination documents require you to provide detailed contact about yourself and the people who will work for you during the election (e.g. financial agent, official agent). Information provided on the nomination document also includes the office you are running for, your nominators, your consent to be nominated, any endorsement you are accepting from an elector organization, and the Statement of Financial Disclosure required under the Financial Disclosure Act.

You are also required to make a solemn declaration stating that you are qualified to be a candidate and you are aware of, understand, and will comply with the requirements of the Local Elections Campaign Financing Act.

Where do I file my nomination papers?

You must file your nomination documents with the Chief Election Officer where you intend to run for office. The nomination deadline is 4:00 p.m. local time on Friday, September 11, 2026. Candidates may submit their nomination documents to the Chief Election Officer by hand, by mail or other delivery service, by fax or by email so long as they are received by the end of the nomination period.

You are required to make a solemn declaration in order for your nomination documents to be accepted for filing. If you are not submitting your documents in-person to the Chief Election Officer, you may make your solemn declaration before a commissioner for taking affidavits for British Columbia, such as a lawyer or notary. The solemn declaration must be signed by you and the person that took the solemn declaration.

Who can help me run my election campaign?

You may appoint a financial agent, an official agent, and scrutineers to help with your election campaign and to take on campaign activities. Your election campaign may also be supported by volunteers.

You may also be endorsed by an elector organization that may undertake certain campaign activities on your behalf (e.g., advertising, canvassing) to help you get elected.

Financial Agents

A financial agent is a representative that a candidate is legally required to have during an election campaign. You are your own financial agent unless you appoint another individual to the position.

Financial agents are responsible for administering campaign finances in accordance with the Local Elections Campaign Financing

Act. This includes opening and depositing contributions to, and paying election-related expenses from, a candidate's campaign account; maintaining records for campaign contributions, election expenses and all other campaign transactions; and, filing the candidate's required campaign financing disclosure statement with Elections BC within 90 days following general voting day.

You must appoint your financial agent in writing and have their written consent to be your financial agent. The written appointment must be submitted to the Chief Election Officer as part of your nomination package and the Chief Election Officer will send all required information to Elections BC.

GUIDANCE FOR FINANCIAL AGENTS

Elections BC will send the financial agent the Guide to Local Elections Campaign Financing in B.C. for Candidates and their Financial Agents shortly after receiving the required candidate information and appointment of financial agent forms from the Chief Election Officer. The required disclosure statement will be sent by Elections BC to the candidate or their financial agent after general voting day. This information will assist you or your financial agent when it is time to disclose your campaign contributions and expenses.

Official Agents

Candidates may appoint an official agent to represent them during the election process. The official agent may act as your campaign manager or spokesperson or be the point of contact for the people helping on your election campaign. You must appoint your official agent in writing and deliver the appointment (including the name and address of the person) to the Chief Election Officer as soon as practicable after you have made the appointment.

Scrutineers

Candidates or their official agent may appoint scrutineers to observe voting procedures and the ballot-counting process. You or your official agent may appoint one scrutineer for each ballot box used at a voting place during general local elections. In some cases, the local government may allow you to have more than one scrutineer for each ballot box.

Further information about scrutineers is available in the Scrutineers Guide to General Local Elections in B.C.

Volunteers

Candidates may retain volunteers to take on election campaign-related activities (such as preparing and distributing flyers, canvassing, calling eligible voters and/or handling logistics).

A volunteer who works on your election campaign must not receive any payment or remuneration for their services.

CANVASSING

Authorized canvassers are entitled to access multi-residential buildings (i.e. housing cooperatives, strata corporations and rental properties) between the hours of 9:00 a.m. to 9:00 p.m. local time during the campaign period. You must appoint your canvasser(s) in writing and provide them with written consent to act as your canvasser. A canvasser entering a multi-residential property must produce government-issued photo ID and their written appointment at the request of a resident or an individual acting on behalf of the multi-residential property (e.g., building or property manager).

Elector Organizations

An elector organization is an organization that endorses or intends to endorse a candidate(s) in general local elections. An elector organization may endorse you on the ballot by allowing its name, abbreviation or acronym to appear on the ballot beside your name.

Elector organizations and candidates may each direct their own separate election campaign or run complementary campaigns; you may also decide to rely solely on the elector organization to run campaign activities on your behalf.

An elector organization must provide a signed consent statement that is included in your nomination documents. You must also sign a statement consenting to the endorsement as part of your nomination documents submitted to the Chief Election Officer.

Elector organizations are required to register with Elections BC before endorsing a candidate.

What is a third party sponsor?

Third party sponsors are individuals or organizations that sponsor election advertising independently from candidates and elector organizations.

Third party advertising includes advertising for or against a candidate and/or an elector organization. Third party advertising also includes advertising on an issue with which a candidate or elector organization is associated during the campaign period.

Third party sponsors must be independent from candidates and/or elector organizations and must not coordinate, or sponsor advertising together with, or on behalf of a candidate and/or an elector organization.

ELECTION CAMPAIGN FINANCING

What campaign financing and election advertising rules should I be aware of?

Election advertising, such as billboards or commercials, must include sponsorship information during the pre-campaign and campaign period.

Election advertising rules apply to advertising that promotes or opposes the election of a candidate or an elector organization that is endorsing a candidate (e.g., directed advertising) during the pre-campaign and campaign period.

CAMPAIGN PERIODS

The pre-campaign period begins on Monday, July 20, 2026, and ends on Friday, September 18, 2026.

The campaign period starts on Saturday, September 19, 2026, and ends when voting closes at 8:00 p.m. local time on Saturday, October 17, 2026.

Elections BC has investigative and enforcement tools to ensure compliance with the campaign financing and advertising rules in the Local Elections Campaign Financing Act. Elections BC can issue monetary penalties for a wide

ELECTION CAMPAIGNING

What can I do to get my message out to the voting public?

Election campaigns are generally a planned set of actions, events or initiatives designed to raise awareness about you or your election platform with voters.

Key campaign activities you could undertake include:

- making public speeches;
- canvassing by phone or door-to-door to raise awareness about your campaign and/or identifying issues important to voters;
- holding events where voters can listen to your election platform and ask questions;
- advertising in print, on radio, television or social media platforms; and/or,
- putting up signs as a way of “getting your name out there.”

VOTING DAY

Will voters be able to cast their ballots before general voting day?

Yes. Generally, at least two advance voting opportunities must be held in every local government before general voting day.

One voting opportunity must be held 10 days before general voting day (Wednesday, October 7, 2026), and in most cases, an additional one on a date established in the local government's bylaw. Local governments may set out in their election bylaw whether additional advance voting opportunities will be offered, or in communities of less than 5,000, whether the second additional advance voting opportunity will be waived.

Voting places are open from 8:00 a.m. to 8:00 p.m. local time Saturday, October 17, 2026, for general voting.

Can I campaign on general voting day?

You are allowed to campaign on general voting day by:

- advertising on the Internet, as long as the advertising was transmitted to the public before general voting day and was not changed before being transmitted on general voting day;
- advertising by means of signs, posters, or banners;
- canvassing and/or distributing pamphlets; and/or,
- advertising that exclusively encourages people to “get out and vote.”

It is an election offence to transmit new election advertising on general voting day. It is also an election offence to campaign within 100 metres of a voting place during voting proceedings.

Can I watch the ballot counting process?

Yes. Candidates can be present during the ballot count. The Chief Election Officer can tell you the time and location for the final vote count and when the election results will be declared. Ballot counting starts after 8:00 p.m. local time following the close of voting. Your official agent or a scrutineer may also attend at each location where ballot counting takes place.

When will the election results be announced?

The official election results must be declared by 4:00 p.m. local time on Wednesday, October 21, 2026. Candidates with the most votes will be declared elected.

The Chief Election Officer must refer the election for a judicial recount if there is a tie in the number of votes between one or more candidates.

Following a judicial recount, a tie between two or more candidates must be broken in accordance with the Local Government Act (or Vancouver Charter in the City of Vancouver) and the local government's election bylaw. The judicial recount must be completed by Friday, October 30, 2026.

AFTER THE ELECTION

What do I do if I am elected?

All candidates must file a campaign financing disclosure statement with Elections BC within 90 days of general voting day.

You must also make an oath of office or solemn affirmation within 45 days after the official election results are declared, or if you are declared elected by acclamation, within 50 days of general voting day.

Refer to Elections BC's Guide to Local Elections Campaign Financing in B.C. for Candidates and their Financial Agents or contact Elections BC directly for more detailed information about campaign financing disclosure requirements.

A candidate who has been declared elected by the Chief Election Officer may make the oath of office or a solemn affirmation as soon as the time period for making an application for judicial recount has ended. The period to apply for a judicial recount ends nine days after the close of general voting (Monday, October 26, 2026).

Elected candidates do not take office immediately after making their oath of office or solemn affirmation. Municipal council members (i.e., mayor and councillors) formally take office at the first regularly scheduled council meeting following general local elections – this meeting must take place before Tuesday, November 10, 2026.

The term of office for regional district electoral area directors begins on the first Monday after November 1 following the general local election or when the individual makes their oath or solemn affirmation, whichever is later. The term of office for a municipal council member appointed to a regional district board begins when the person has made an oath of office or solemn affirmation as a regional district director.

Are there things I need to do even if I am not elected?

Yes. You must file a campaign financing disclosure statement with Elections BC by Tuesday, February 16, 2027, at the latest – even if you received no campaign contributions and incurred no election expenses. Statements filed after Friday, January 15, 2027, are subject to a $500 late filing penalty fee.

ELECTION OFFENCES AND PENALITIES

What happens if I don't comply with all of the election rules?

You could be disqualified from office if you fail to take the oath of office following local elections.

Candidates who fail to file a campaign financing disclosure statement are automatically disqualified from being nominated for, elected to or holding office anywhere in B.C. until after the next general local elections. A candidate declared elected also loses their seat and the seat then becomes vacant.

Additional monetary and disqualification penalties for contravening campaign financing and advertising rules are set out in the Local Elections Campaign Financing Act. Elections BC can be notified when a person believes someone has committed a campaign financing election offence.

You may also be subject to penalties of up to $5,000 and/or imprisonment for up to one year for providing and/or distributing false information, campaigning near a voting place during voting proceedings, falsely withdrawing a candidate or an endorsement, fraudulently voting, interfering with ballots or ballot boxes, or otherwise contravening section 163 of the Local Government Act. These penalties could apply whether or not you were elected.

2026 MUNICIPAL ELECTIONS

SCRUTINEER'S GUIDE

TO GENERAL LOCAL ELECTIONS IN B.C.

2026

Getting Started

This brochure answers questions and provides best practices about scrutineers and their role in general local elections in British Columbia.

Scrutineers are also known as "candidate representatives" in provincial legislation.

General local elections in B.C. are held every four years on the third Saturday in October. The next general local elections will be held on Saturday, October 17, 2026.

Through general local elections residents and non-resident property electors determine the individuals who will collectively govern and make decisions on their behalf. Electors do this by voting – casting their ballots in favour of one or more candidate(s).

General local elections (and any by-elections held to fill vacancies between general local elections) must be run in accordance with the Local Government Act, the Local Elections Campaign Financing Act, the Community Charter, the Vancouver Charter (in the City of Vancouver), the School Act, the Offence Act and the local government's or board of education's election bylaw, as applicable.

The local government's election bylaw enables the local government to make decisions about some aspects of local elections administration (e.g., use of voting machines).

Unlike provincial elections, local elections are not managed by one organization. Each local government is responsible for running its own local elections, including voting, counting, reporting results, and accepting candidate nominations. Elections BC is responsible for administering the campaign financing and election advertising rules in the Local Elections Campaign Financing Act.

Responsibility for school trustee elections is determined in accordance with the School Act. Further information about school trustee elections can be found on the Ministry of Education and Child Care website.

Local governments appoint a Chief Election Officer to run local elections. Chief Election Officers are responsible for overseeing all election administration, including: receiving nomination documents; declaring candidates; administering voting opportunities; counting ballots; and, declaring election results.

Chief Election Officers also work with Elections BC to monitor compliance with election advertising regulations and may assist Elections BC to address incidents of election advertising non-compliance.

Chief Election Officer

The Chief Election Officer may be a senior local government employee, such as a corporate officer, or a private contractor hired to conduct the election on the local government's behalf.

The Presiding Election Official is appointed by the Chief Election Officer to conduct the election at a voting place.

Being a Scrutineer

Why consider being a scrutineer?

Volunteering to be a scrutineer is one way to be involved in local elections. Scrutineers play a role in helping protect the integrity of the voting process for their community and the candidate they represent.

What is the role of a scrutineer?

Scrutineers represent candidates at advance, special and general voting opportunities to:

- observe the opening of the mail ballots, if applicable;
- observe the voting procedures; and,
- scrutinize the ballot-counting process after the close of voting at the end of general voting day.

Scrutineers must follow the legislation, the local government's election bylaw and the direction of the Chief Election Officer and Presiding Election Official at the voting place during voting proceedings and the ballot counting process.

Who can be a scrutineer?

Candidates can choose whom to appoint as a scrutineer. For example, a candidate may appoint a relative or friend to scrutineer for them during local elections. A candidate's official agent may also act as a scrutineer on voting day.

What is an Official Agent?

The official agent may act as the campaign manager or spokesperson or be the point of contact for the people helping on the candidate's election campaign.

A candidate may appoint an official agent to represent them during the election process.

How are scrutineers appointed?

Candidates or their official agent may appoint a scrutineer. Scrutineer appointments must be made in writing (including the name and address of the person) and delivered to the Chief Election Officer as soon as practicable after the appointment has been made.

There is no set period in the legislation within which a candidate or their official agent must appoint a scrutineer. However, the Chief Election Officer may establish a deadline for scrutineers to be appointed by to simplify election administration.

A person interested in being a scrutineer can contact a candidate or the Chief Election Officer for more information about the local government's process and to better understand what their time commitment would be during the election.

The Local Government Act and Scrutineers

Provincial legislation requires that each scrutineer appointment must:

- be written and signed by the person making the appointment (e.g. candidate or official agent);
- include the full name and address of the person appointed; and,
- be submitted to the Chief Election Officer as soon as practicable after the appointment is made.

The appointment of a scrutineer may only be cancelled in the same manner as the appointment was made.

Number of scrutineers at a voting place

Each candidate or their official agent may appoint one scrutineer for each ballot box used at a voting place during general local elections.

In some cases, the local government's election bylaw may allow a candidate to have more than one scrutineer for each ballot box used at a voting place. The absence of a scrutineer at the voting place does not invalidate a local election.

Special Voting Opportunities

Special voting opportunities are generally held in hospitals, long-term care facilities or other places where an elector's mobility may be impaired. Scrutineers for special voting opportunities are chosen by agreement of the candidates or failing agreement by the candidates, by the Chief Election Officer.

A local government's election bylaw may limit, or authorize the Chief Election Officer to limit, the number of scrutineers at special voting opportunities.

Preparing to scrutineer

There are several actions scrutineers can take to prepare for their role. Scrutineers can:

- ensure their availability for training sessions (if applicable) and voting opportunities;
- consider the length of time they are available to observe the voting or ballot counting process;
- take the required solemn declaration to preserve the secrecy of the vote (usually made at the local government office);
- clarify any questions they may have with the Chief Election Officer prior to scrutineering at a voting opportunity;
- review the local government's election bylaw and local government guidelines for scrutineers (if any); and,
- understand the role of the Presiding Election Official at the voting place.

Voting Opportunities

On voting day

Local governments, by bylaw, and the Chief Election Officer have the authority to establish specific rules governing scrutineer conduct and responsibilities. Scrutineers must follow these rules, or they may be ordered to leave the voting place by the Chief Election Officer, Presiding Election Official or local law enforcement.

While scrutineers are appointed to represent candidates at a voting opportunity, they are not there to campaign for the candidates. They are there to neutrally observe the voting process. Scrutineers are not permitted to wear anything that shows support for a particular candidate (e.g., shirt, hat, button) while they are in or near the voting place.

Scrutineers may work part of the voting day and then be replaced by another appointed scrutineer. The Chief Election Officer may place requirements around the timing of shifts to minimize disruption at the voting place and/or require that scrutineers only serve one shift during voting.

Scrutineers may be asked to inform the Presiding Election Official if they leave the voting place and/or are being replaced by a new scrutineer.

At the voting place scrutineers must:

- carry a copy of their appointment documents and, before beginning duties at the voting place, show them to the Presiding Election Official;

- make the required declaration to preserve the secrecy of the vote (if not previously completed);
- follow the direction of the Presiding Election Official; and,
- remain in the designated area for scrutineers to observe the vote, if one has been designated.

Challenging an Elector's Eligibility to Receive a Ballot

A scrutineer may challenge an elector's right to receive a ballot based on their belief that the elector is not entitled to vote or has accepted an inducement to vote. Challenges must be raised before the ballot is issued to the elector.

The Presiding Election Official will discuss the matter with the elector and decide whether or not the elector is eligible. The Presiding Election Official must keep a record indicating the elector was challenged and record the name of the scrutineer who made the challenge.

During voting scrutineers may:

- generally, only communicate with election officials during times when no electors are present at the voting place – unless they are challenging an elector's eligibility to receive a ballot;
- ask to look at the voting books and write down the names of people who have voted, provided it does not interfere with the voting process;
- be asked to witness the sealing of a ballot box by the Presiding Election Official;

- add their initials during the sealing of a ballot box; or,
- privately communicate with the candidate or official agent provided it is outside the voting place and not in the presence of electors or election officials.

During voting scrutineers must not:

- interfere with the duties of the Presiding Election Official or handle election documents;
- handle or touch the voting books, or make a copy (such as taking a photo or asking for a photocopy);
- view, interfere with, or assist a person marking a ballot;
- attempt to discover how someone voted or marked their ballot;
- communicate information about how someone voted;
- canvass or solicit votes or otherwise attempt to influence an elector's vote;
- display, distribute, post or openly leave a representation of a ballot marked for a particular result in the voting place or elsewhere;
- display, distribute, or post any election advertising within 100 metres of a voting place on voting day that identifies a candidate or elector organization;
- carry, wear or supply a flag, badge or other item indicating support for a candidate, elector organization; or,
- make telephone calls or take photos inside the voting place.

Mail Ballot Voting

Local governments that offer mail ballot voting may have a separate process for opening external envelopes and checking elector registration documents prior to the ballot count. Candidates are entitled to have a representative present during this process.

Conflict between scrutineers or with other persons present at the voting place can raise concerns about the procedures and safety at a voting place. If conflict does arise, due to a concern about procedures or otherwise, this should be brought to the attention of the Presiding Election Official to address in a manner that does not disturb voting.

The Presiding Election Official has authority to order a person to leave if they are disturbing the peace and order of proceedings.

After the Close of Voting

Observing the ballot count

Ballot counting begins after voting places close at 8:00 p.m. local time and is generally conducted at the voting place where the ballot boxes are located unless the Chief Election Officer has directed that the counting is to take place at another location.

Acceptance or Rejection of a Ballot

Ballots must be accepted if the elector's intent is clear. Ballots must be rejected if:

- the ballot is physically different from the ballots provided;
- there are no marks on the ballot;
- the ballot is uniquely marked such that an elector could be identified; or,
- the ballot has more marks than the number of candidates to be elected.

Scrutineers must be in the voting place before the end of voting to observe the ballot count and must not leave the voting place until after the count is complete.

Only one candidate representative (scrutineer or official agent) for each candidate may be present to observe the count at each location where ballot counting takes place, unless another representative is also permitted by the Presiding Election Official.

Candidates are entitled to be present during the ballot count as well. The Presiding Election Official may explain the ballot counting process and outline what scrutineers may and may not do while the count is being conducted prior to starting the ballot count.

Use of Voting Machines

Local governments may establish different: procedures for how to vote, the form of ballot, and, requirements for counting of votes for voting machines.

During the ballot count scrutineers must:

- be able to see how the ballot is marked as it is being considered for acceptance by the Presiding Election Official or other election officials under the supervision of the Presiding Election Official;
- raise their objection (if they have one) to a ballot's acceptance or rejection with the Presiding Election Official at the time the ballot is being considered;
- not participate in the physical counting of the ballots;
- not touch the ballot boxes or the ballots during the counting process; and,
- not leave during the ballot counting process.

At the ballot count scrutineers may:

- be asked to witness the opening of the ballot box(es) for counting;
- be asked to witness the opening of the certification envelopes for mail ballots either at the ballot count or at another designated time; and/or,

- look at the ballot packages after the count to make sure they are properly re-sealed and may add their own seal to the ballot package.

Objections to the Acceptance or Rejection of a Ballot

The Presiding Election Official must record an objection to accept or reject a ballot made by a candidate or scrutineer.

Objections to the Presiding Election Official's decision relative to the ballot in question are recorded and submitted with the ballot account for that voting place to the Chief Election Officer. The Presiding Election Official's decision to accept or reject a ballot can only be overturned by the Chief Election Officer or by the Provincial Court following a judicial recount.

Judicial recounts

Scrutineers may make an application to the Courts for a judicial recount.

An application for judicial recount may only be made in the time between the declaration of the official election results and nine days after the close of general voting.

An application for judicial recount can only be made on the basis that the:

- ballots were incorrectly accepted or rejected;

- ballot account does not accurately record the number of valid votes for a candidate; or,
- final determination of results did not correctly calculate the total number of valid votes for a candidate.

Local guidelines for scrutineers

Some local governments and Chief Election Officers have developed guidelines for scrutineers to assist with election day administration and to clarify scrutineer roles and responsibilities on voting day and at the ballot count.

These guidelines assist the Chief Election Officer and Presiding Election Official to manage scrutineers during voting and help the voting proceedings and the ballot counting process to run smoothly.

Local government best practices for scrutineers may:

- require that the solemn declaration to preserve the secrecy of the vote be made prior to voting day to help ease voting day administration;
- outline whether a scrutineer may be replaced by another scrutineer during voting, return for a second shift or when scrutineer shift changes may occur;
- require scrutineers to wear a name tag at the voting place to identify them as a scrutineer;

Scrutineers for Assent Voting

There are specific rules set out for a scrutineer during assent voting (formerly referendum) that are different than for an election. For example, a person who wishes to volunteer as a scrutineer either in favour or against the assent voting question must submit an application directly to the Chief Election Officer in order to be appointed as a scrutineer.

The application to be a scrutineer must be signed by the applicant and contain:

- the applicant's full name, address and phone number (if required by the Chief Election Officer);
- a statement that they are entitled to vote as an elector and to act as scrutineer in the assent voting; and,
- a statement as to whether they are in favour or opposed to the question.
